

$3 million computer research centre is coming to Markham

A $3 million computer research and development centre is coming to Markham.

Minicom Data Corporation, a Toronto-based company that develops and produces micro-computer systems for real estate and building firms, recently announced that it will build the new facility on Renfrew Dr. in Markham.

Howard Honickman, president of Minicom, said the 27,000 square-foot, two-level building will initially house more than 100 staff members, 75 of whom are dedicated to client training and support and software development.

The facility, which is expected to be completed by March, 1987, will include seminar, training and meeting facilities for Minicom's clients who are real estate developers, property managers and home builders.

Space will also be provided for Minicom's administrative, marketing and sales staff. The only non-Minicom occupant in the new building will be its sister company, computer consultant Honickman & Associates Ltd.

Mr. Honickman noted that the 2½-acre site on Renfrew Dr., near the Valleywood subdivision and Buttonville Airport, allows for future expansion of an additional 15,000 square feet.

Markham resident wins scholarship

Doris Schwar of Markham is among 75 students from across Canada that have been awarded scholarships by Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) for graduate studies in housing and related matters.

Stewart McInnes, minister responsible for CMHC recently announced that the scholarships have been awarded to students pursuing master's and doctoral degrees in the social, economic, technical, physical and management aspects of housing in regular university programs during the 1986-87 academic year.

Federal funds allocated to the scholarship program for 1986-87 total $1.5 million. Successful candidates each receive $11,325.

Doris is taking environmental studies at York University.
