

Scarborough men die in spectacular Uxbridge Township collision

Two Scarborough men were killed Friday in a two-vehicle collision on Durham Region Road 21, west of Conc. 7 in Uxbridge Township. According to Durham Regional Police, a 1985 Chrysler carrying driver Robert Barlow, 30, and 28-year-old Colin Hutton was westbound on Durham 21 when it suddenly veered across the centre line and was struck on the passenger side by an eastbound 1987 Dodge driven by Ann Cramm, 48, of Port Perry. Both Barlow and Hutton were both later pronounced dead at area hospitals. Cramm was rushed to Sunnybrook Medical Centre, where she remains in serious condition with internal injuries. In above photo, Uxbridge firefighters and ambulance attendants work feverishly to free victims from the mangled vehicles, while the aftermath of the grisly 5:10 p.m. crash is pictured below. Police continue to investigate.

Community is saddened

By MARJORIE WOODLAND
FOURTH LINE—Sympathy of the community is extended to Dorothy and Eldon Yake on the loss of Mrs. Yake's mother, Clara Brillinger. Mrs. Brillinger passed away at York Central Hospital following a lengthy illness. A service was held Tuesday from the chapel of O'Neill Funeral Home, Stouffville. Interment was at Heise Hill Cemetery.

Among the guests at a wedding in Oakwood United Church Saturday were several Fourth Line residents, former neighbors of the groom. The bride, Sandra Coakley of Mississauga, was united in marriage to Michael Maye, now of Oakwood. Although the day was mostly overcast, the sun did shine through the sanctuary's beautiful stained glass windows and onto the bridal party. Rev. Clifford Waite performed the ceremony after welcoming the guests and speaking suitable words of counsel and guidance to all present. A reception followed on the lawn of the groom's farm home at Oakwood. The wedding supper of barbecued pork and corn was a most suitable repast on the chilly September afternoon.

Mary Emery of Cambridge is guest speaker for the season's first morning coffee meeting sponsored by the Goodwood Christian Women's Club. A fashion show is also part of the program, scheduled for the Community Centre this Friday beginning at 9:30 a.m.
