***
Old methods still work

The workmanship of a bygone era was depicted Saturday and Sunday during Pickering Museum Village's History-In-Action days. In photo at right, museum volunteer Chris Coady teaches the finer points of spinning with a walking wheel to Shelly Nicholson, 12, of Pickering. At bottom, Ed Cammack of Sideline 5, Uxbridge Twp., demonstrates a 1902 shearing instrument. The sheep farmer holds some of the fleece cut from a flock pictured in the background.

Plowmen post wins

DURHAM REGION— Entrants from Stouffville and Uxbridge were among the winners at an annual plowing match sponsored by the Region of Durham, Rama and Mara Plowmen's Association. A total of 28 contestants took part in the Sept. 8 program, held at the farm of Vyse Westcott, R.R. 3, Beaverton. The field included three entrants in the mayor and reeve class, won by Rama Twp. reeve Russell Cooper of Washago. Also competing were Brock's mayor Allan McPhail and Allan Byers, reeve of Mara Twp. There was no class for horse plowing in 1986. Doreen Catherwood of R.R. 2, Uxbridge retained the title of Queen of the Furrow and she's now representing her association at the International Plowing Match. It began yesterday at Stirling in Hastings County and continues until Sept. 20. A list of winners in tractor classes at the Durham, Rama and Mara match follows: Age 12, 13 and 14 — Barry DeGeer, R.R. 3, Mount Albert. Age 15, 16, 17 — Jim Allison, R.R. 1, Manilla. Age 18 to 23 — Steven Dunkeld, R.R. 1, Zephyr. Age 24 to 30 — Gregg Timbers, Uxbridge. Age 31 to 35 — Mel Davis, R.R. 1, Peterborough. Age 36 and over — Floyd Forsyth, R.R. 2, Stouffville.
