

Women's Institute will meet Oct. 18

By MARJORIE WOODLAND
FOURTH LINE — The ladies of Goodwood Women's Institute have changed the date of their regular meeting to Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the community centre.

A speaker of special interest, Mrs. Orvan Brethour, will present highlights of the Associated Country Women of the World conference held in Ireland last May. She'll also show slides about the world organization of which our local W.I. is a part.

Markham Fair suffered from the effects of the rain that persisted every day until Saturday night. Contributions to exhibits from our little neck of the woods were quite good. The Frank Hendy and Ivan Norton families made a good showing following a family tradition.

Mr. and Mrs. Gil Cragg also displayed an assortment of entries at the Oct. 1-5 fair, and we were pleased to acquire a few ribbons in the vegetable classes. Most noteworthy was Keith Leach's duck decoy, a red ribbon winner which represented many hours of meticulous workmanship.

What is the problem at Turkey Town? I refer to the Bloomington Rd.-Hwy. 47 intersection. Another two collisions occurred there last week.

Mrs. Rueben May spent last week with Diane and Frank

Barnes of Aurora, caring for her two little granddaughters while Diane was hospitalized for a rather serious tonsillectomy at Newmarket.

Several senior citizens at Goodwood Baptist Church were treated to a color tour following Sunday's morning worship service. Members of Eldercare and Parkview Home were amongst those who enjoyed the sunny drive which took in the Chalk Lake area. The trip was courtesy of Ken and Beatrice Hockley in their motor coach, nicely fitted up as a home on wheels.

Harold and Marlene Gribble hosted a family gathering in honor of her mother on Oct. 1. Edith Beggs of Woodbridge is enjoying reasonably good health and is now in her 90th year. We offer our congratulations and good wishes to this lovely lady. She is the authoress of a book of poems and I'd like to share this one with you:

HOLD FAST
 Hold fast to all things true and pure...
 The tested and the tried
 For they are those that shall endure
 Against the rising tide!
 Hold fast to home and loved ones, dear,
 And Christian faith keep strong,
 Stand straight and firm and be of cheer,
 For right will conquer wrong.

Shutterbug wins

By NANCY HOSKIN
CLAREMONT — She's just nine years old, but that didn't stop Claremont resident Lindsay Graham from walking away from the Markham Fair with five ribbons, two for first place, two for second place and one best in show, for her entries in the photography competition.

Lindsay's interest in photography was sparked last year when she registered in an elective course, offered by the Claremont schools. For five Friday afternoons, school children were taught the basics of taking pictures and learned how to develop their own film under the direction of Pickering photographer, Chuck Shumilak. They used the darkrooms available at the Pickering Recreation Centre.

After unsuccessfully trying to borrow her older sister's camera for a trip taken to Halifax last summer, Lindsay's aunt, with whom she was visiting, bought her a Kodak instamatic. A treasured gift with which four of her prized winning photos were taken with.

Lindsay's mom, Andrea Graham, an avid shutterbug herself, takes her daughter on outings where she is able to experiment with her picture taking. Mrs. Graham feels the exposure with Markham Fair has further stimulated her interest in photography.

Without realizing that she won any ribbons, until she actually arrived at the fair, Lindsay was elated, jumping up and down. She was very surprised, according to Mrs. Graham.

"I never coach Lindsay with her picture taking. She has a knack. For the elective course Lindsay used one of my cameras, a fifteen-year-old 35 mm. Konica. She learned how to operate the entire camera by herself," the girl's mother said.

Lindsay, presently in Grade 4, is a student at Westney Height Public School in Pickering and plans to continue with her love of photography.

Stouffville enjoys the Fair

Machines from tractors to ATVs attract attention while on display at 131st annual Markham Fair

The 1986 version of Markham Fair was a showcase for exhibitors and competitors from far and wide, including many from the Stouffville area. In photo at right, Stouffville's Brian Richards gives the thumbs up signal following his victory in the fair's pro-stock tractor
