

Multi-talented man

GREENWOOD — Milton N. Pegg of Greenwood was all things to all people.

He was a teacher, a farmer, an artist and a musician.

He was a writer and an historian.

He was a church elder and a Sunday school superintendent.

He was an avid hunter and fisherman.

He was a devoted husband and father.

He was a friend.

At his passing, Oct. 7, Milton Pegg left a legacy that will be remembered into the future as long as it was appreciated in the past.

Mr. Pegg died at his home on Greenwood Road following two years of declining health. He was 91.

Born in North Dakota, Nov. 1, 1894, the son of Andrew and Essie Pegg, he resided for a short time in Manitoba, then moved with his parents to R.R. 2, Claremont.

As a teacher, his first school was on the 7th Conc. of Pickering. Later, he accepted a teaching position at the Burwash Industrial Farm where he remained six years.

Mr. Pegg's real love was farming. The property, immediately east of the Claremont Conservation Area, is now owned by Bill McAvoy and, previous to that, by ex-Leaf hockey star Bob Baum.

Milton and Betty Pegg and family resided there 40 years.

Prior to entering the teaching profession, Mr. Pegg served as a pilot with the R.C.A.F. overseas during World War I.

Milton Pegg was a pillar of strength within the congregation of Greenwood United Church. He served as Sunday School superintendent many years, also as elder.

He was an historian without equal in the area. He completed the Pegg family history dating back to the 1600's.

He was president and a director on the board of the Claremont Co-operative Association.

Always an avid sportsman, he enjoyed both hunting and fishing. Fall trips into the north country were always looked forward to with much anticipation.

Photo albums allow his wife and family to re-live those memories.

Milton Pegg was a talented musician. For years, he was a member of the Claremont Citizens' Band and the Pegg family orchestra. He played the coronet, the violin and the piano.

In addition, he was a skilled artist. Several of his beautiful paintings hold positions of prominence in their home.

Rev. Sharon Patterson of Greenwood United Church touched on many of these attributes at a service, Oct. 7, in the McEachnie Funeral Home, Pickering. It was largely attended.

Pall-bearers were all nephews: Fred Brown, David Pegg, Donovan Appleby, Kenn McTaggart, Donald Pegg and Ken Brooks. Interment was made at Salem Cemetery.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three sons, Edward and Alfred of Greenwood; Joseph of Oshawa; four brothers, Lloyd of Orillia; William of Stouffville; George of Claremont and Edgerton of Greenwood; three sisters, Essie, (Mrs. Rod Appleby), Pickering; Alice, (Mrs. Bertan Wilson), Orillia; and Mildred, (Mrs. Charles McTaggart), Greenwood; four grandchildren, Ruth, (Mrs. Harold Vale) of Sunderland; Diana, John and Steven Pegg of Oshawa; and one great-grandson, Matthew Dallin of Sunderland. He was pre-deceased by a sister Gladys, (Mrs. Wm. Brown) of Pickering.
