

It's a bird, a plane, no it's a singing chicken

Look, what is that white blur shooting across the cafeteria, and jumping onto tables in a single bound? It's a plane...no, it's Superman...No it's a bird! A four-feathered human-sized chicken to be precise.

The Drama Club is selling Birthday-A-Grams for a nominal fee. Show that special person you care by having four singing chickens present your friends with balloons and a birthday message on an egg.

Meanwhile, in saner quarters of the school, the Blue and White Society aided by Mr. Christoff, Miss Dyson and Mr. Kennedy are busily making preparations for the Grades 12 and 13 Commencement, on Nov. 7.

MDHS has been spreading itself around a lot lately. Field trips are always a welcome break from the usual classroom routine.

Academic adventures have recently included the Wind Ensembles concert at the Excellence in Education conference in Aurora.

The Grade 12 drama classes have been visiting junior schools to present puppet shows. Mr. Bul-son's Grade 13 World Issues classes took a journey to the food show at The Ontario Science Centre.

Last weekend, the Outdoors club went on a "Cold but Fun" canoe trip. And finally, multitudinous trips have been taken by Miss Corry's Grade 12 English classes to the library.

Markham High is getting a face-lift, otherwise known as the attack of the interlocking brick. First, as reported earlier outside the front foyer was revamped, next came the ecology area in back of the teacher's dining room to give them additional eating area in the nice weather.

Next comes the Commons area which will be getting a path connecting the two, yes two doors entering the commons. Covering part of the bricked area will also be a steel shelter so that even though the smokers will be cold, they'll be dry. I'm really excited to see that so much progress has been made in such a short time.

Seeing as only teachers' names have been mentioned thus far, I've decided to start a "know your fellow students' section". So the lucky(?) students of the week are 1) Brent McIntosh 2) Igor and Hugo Smenge 3) Brian Hook 4) Paul Lynch and 5) Caroline King. So when you see these people in the halls this week, stop and say hi.

Stunt skier to appear for charity

Remember the chilling ski race scenes in the James Bond movies The Spy Who Loved Me and For Your Eyes Only?

The man who doubled as the infamous Agent 007 during ski segments, John Eaves, is coming to Markham Theatre Nov. 25 for an evening of fashion, film, fun and a good cause.

The evening, sponsored by skiwear manufacturer Bogner and the Old Firehall Sports store is in aid of the Markham Stouffville Hospital fund.

John Eaves has won six World Cup ski championships and has doubled for many film stars as a skier. He stars in the film Ski Dance with Women's Freestyle Ski Champion Suzy Chaffee.

Mr. Eaves will be on hand during the evening to talk to guests. In addition to the film, Bogner will present a lineup of the latest fashions for the slopes.

John Lennox, owner of Old Firehall Sports in Unionville, said he saw a similar production put on by Bogner while in Europe.

The meal is being catered by Markham cooking school owner Faith Robinson.

The fun begins at 7 p.m. and the movie will be shown at 8 p.m. Tickets are $20 per person with proceeds to the hospital fund.

They can be obtained from Old Firehall Sports at 170 Main St. in Unionville, the hospital office at 114 Main St. in Markham or by calling the theatre box office at 479-0201.
