

United Way distributing winter coats to the needy

Working in conjunction with Sketchley Cleaners, the United Way of York Region hopes to distribute more than 2,000 winter coats to the region's needy.

Last year, when the promotion was first introduced, York Region handed out 600 coats in the lower part of the region.

Helpmate Volunteer Bureau co-ordinated the program in 1985 and expanded the service this year to include social service agencies and five municipalities.

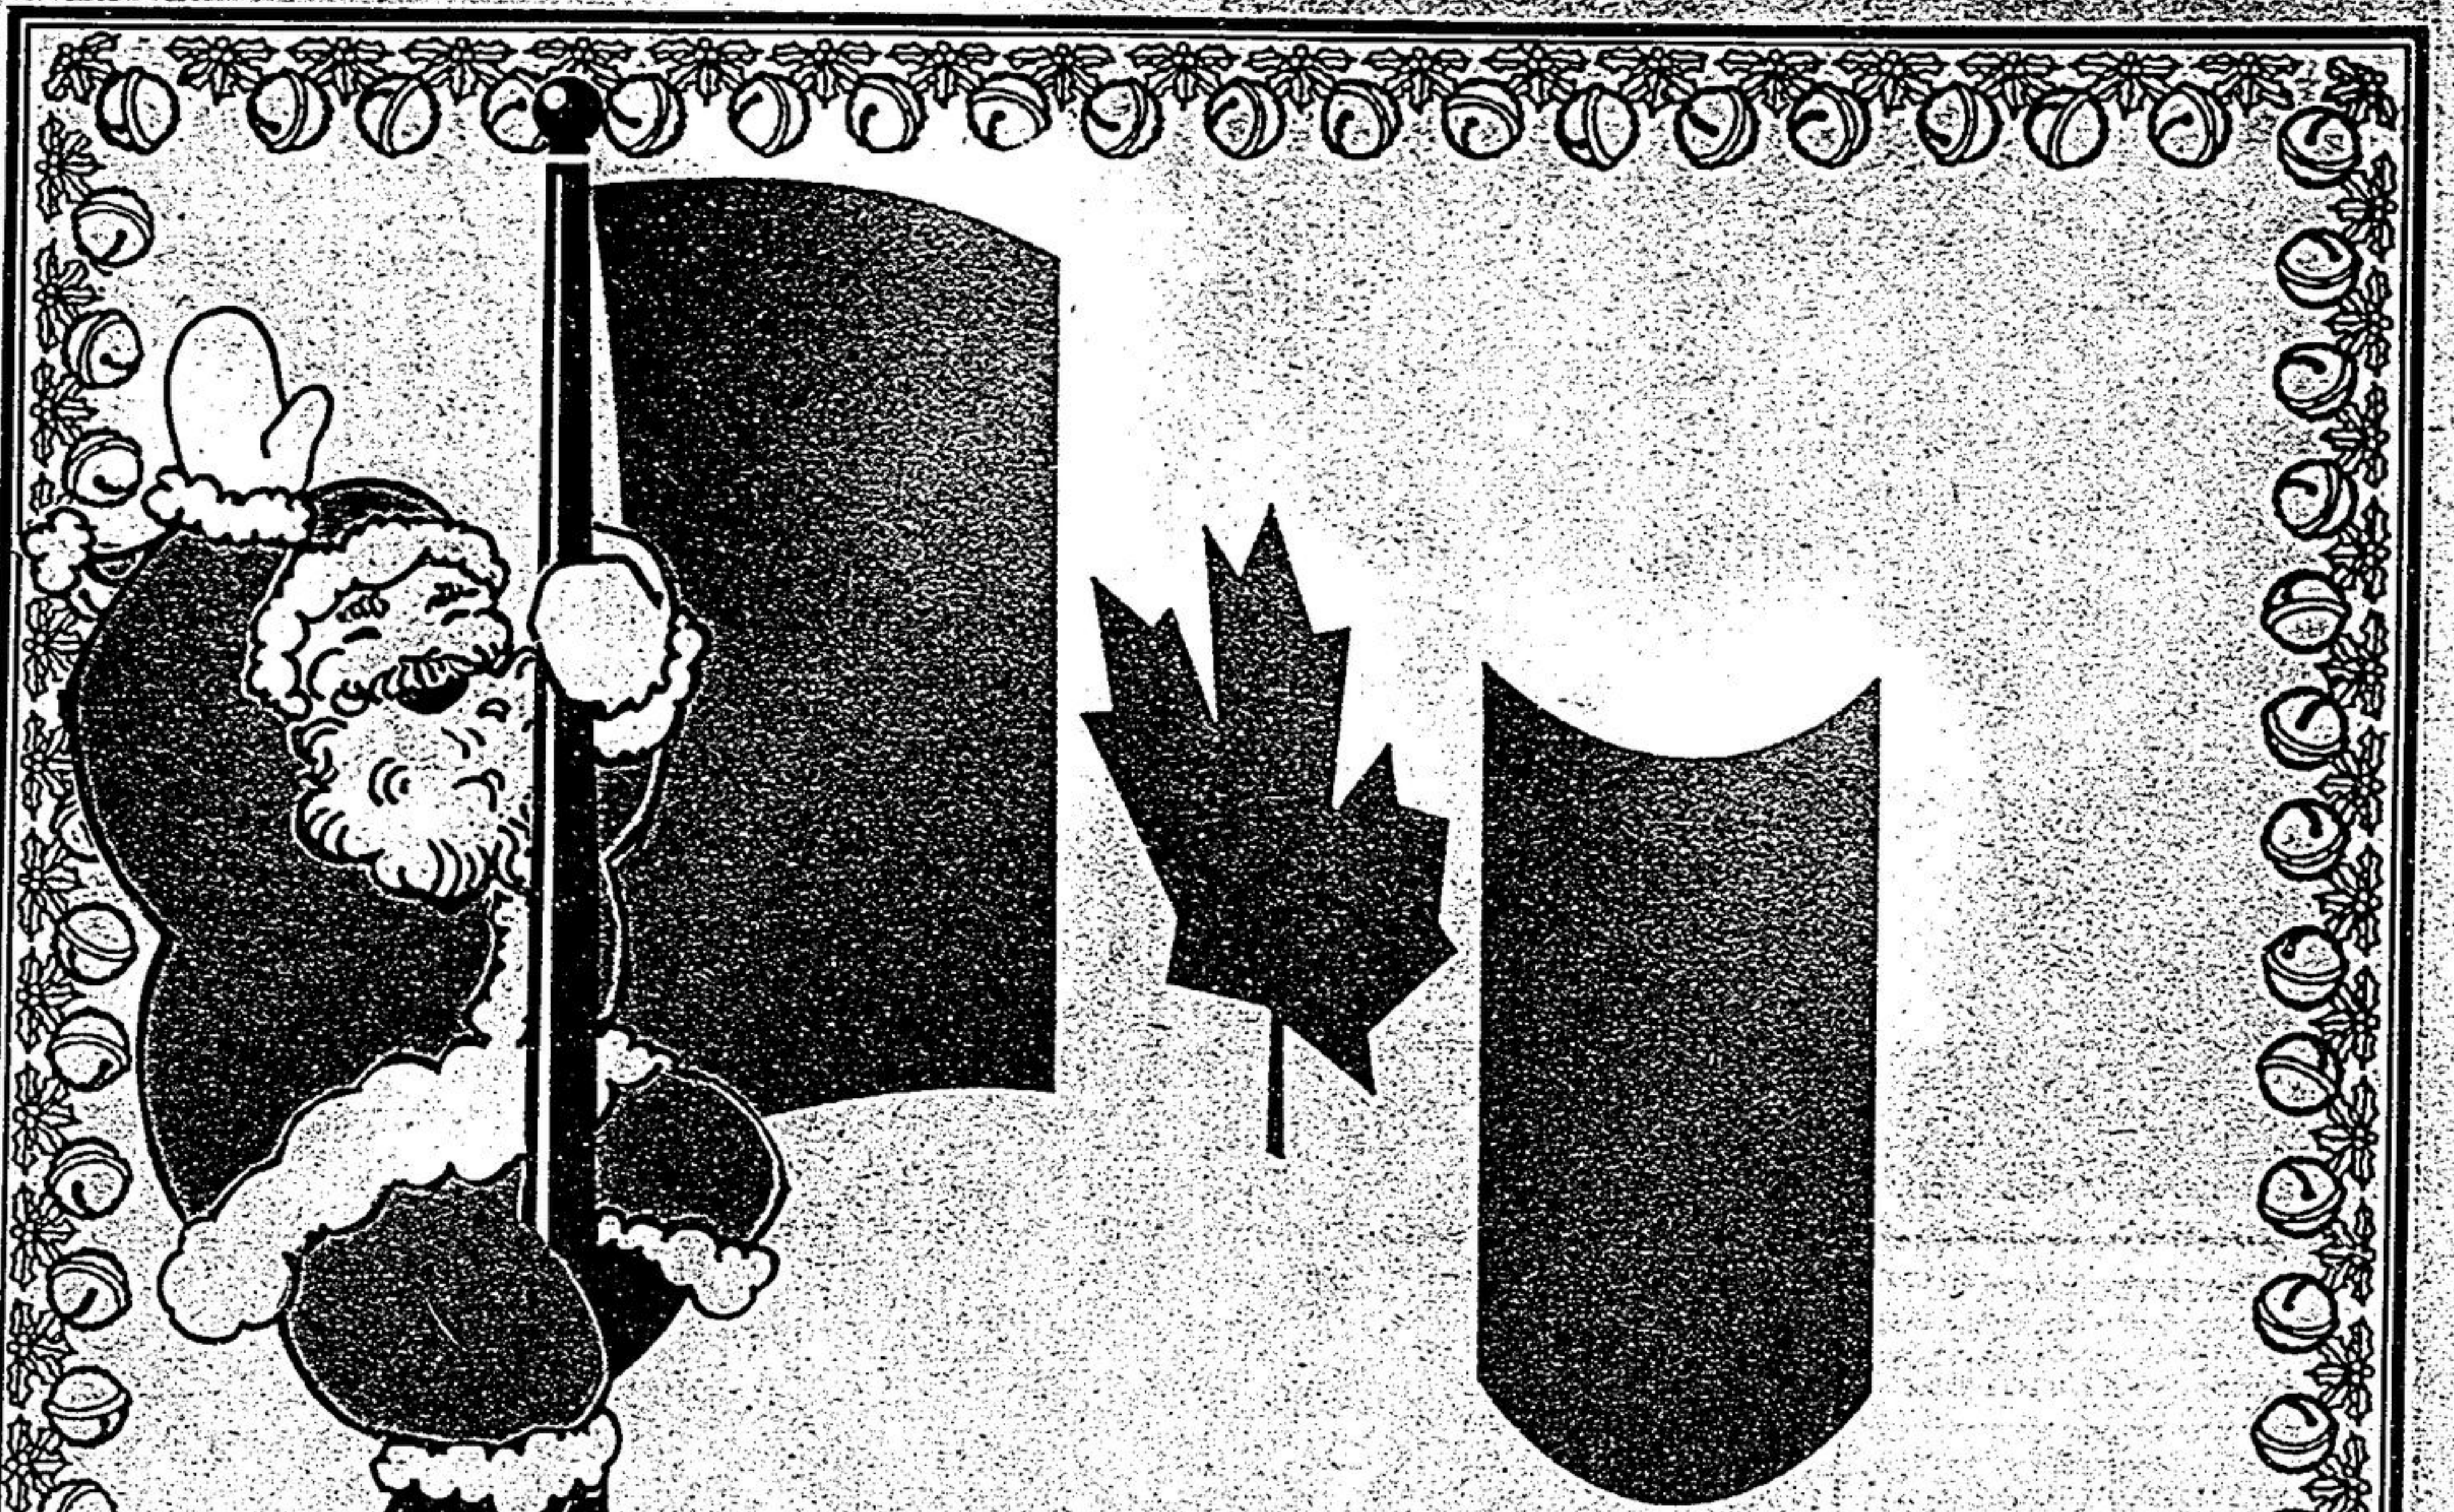

Helpmate co-ordinator Judy Flow said the demand for coats this winter has greatly increased from last year. But she's confident that with the support of the general public, every person requiring a warm winter garment will be accommodated.

Sketchley Cleaners predicts that tens of thousands of people will be given a coat through the promotion, which covers Toronto, York and Peel Regions, Ajax/Pickering, Burlington/Hamilton, Wentworth, Oakville, Kitchener/Waterloo and Mississauga.

The public is asked to drop off at any Sketchley's location, children's and adult winter coats not in use. Company staff will clean and make all necessary repairs.

They will then pass the coats on to the United Way for distribution to its member agencies and other social service organizations.

Anyone requiring a coat can leave his/her name at one of the following agencies: United Way of York Region, 205 Riviera Dr., Suite 7, (474-9974); Markham Clothing Centre (294-1647); Aim For Change, Aurora (727-2837); Georgina Community Resource Centre, Keswick (476-3611); York Family Y in Richmond Hill (884-4811); or Costi Iias Immigrant Services, Vaughan (669-5330).
