Late Orville Hostetler

Saw a challenge in every task

STOUFFVILLE — Orville Hostetler, was a quiet, unassuming man. But everything he took on, whether a hobby or a business, he accepted as a challenge and turned it into a profession.

Mr. Hostetler was held in high regard as a head grower on the staff of Dunn's Greenhouses, St. Catharines. When he moved to Stouffville in 1959, his skills were utilized by Herb Cossey, then of the Stouffville Floral Company.

Following retirement, Mr. Hostetler turned his hand to photography.

"You're just the man I'm looking for," was the response by Ted Cadieux of Cadieux Studio, Main Street, Stouffville, when Mr. Hostetler enquired concerning a position as darkroom technician with the firm. His skills were later retained by Mr. Cadieux's successor George Ross.

Orville Hostetler, Testa Villa Apartments, Stouffville, passed away suddenly, Dec. 8 at Scarborough Centenary Hospital. He was 83.

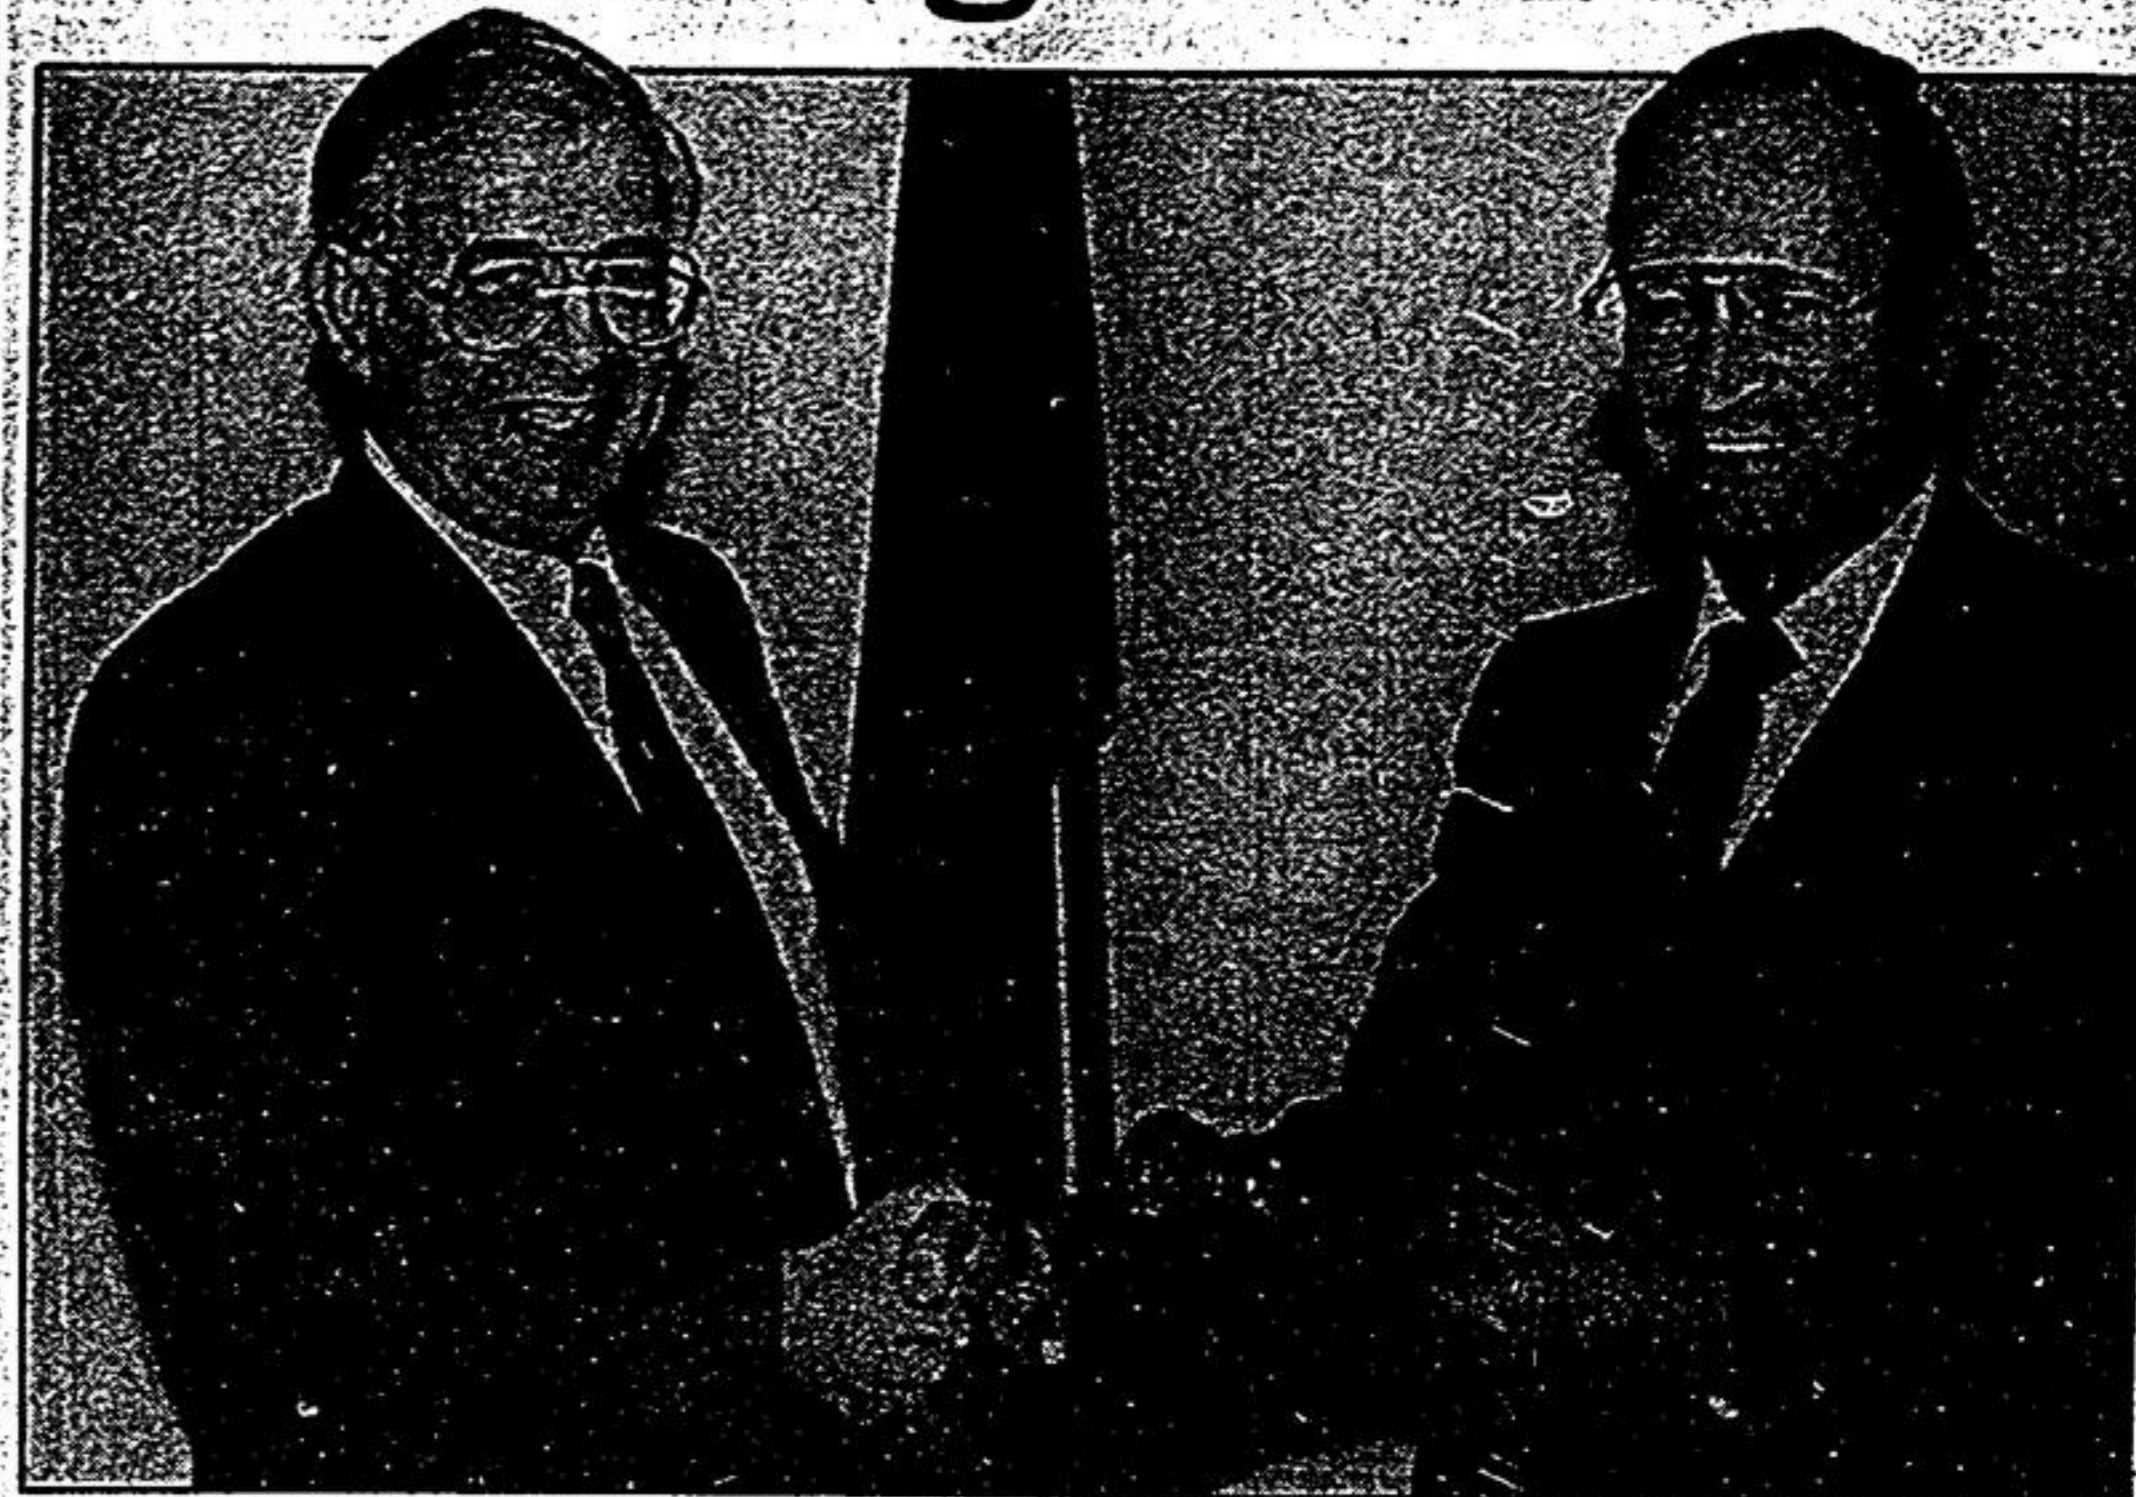

It was only a few days prior to his death that Mr. Hostetler suffered a fall, breaking his hip. He was taken first to Uxbridge Cottage Hospital then transferred to Scarborough Centenary. While surgery was successful, his condition deteriorated due to heart failure.

Mr. Hostetler was born at New Hamburg, Ont. Following the death of his first wife, he married Flossie Barkey who survives. They would have marked their 22nd wedding anniversary Jan. 23.

He was predeceased by an only sister last September. Mr. Hostetler loved photography. Often he would drive into the country and capture beautiful scenes that, to the average person would seem unattractive. He took great pride in everything he did.

Mr. Hostetler also enjoyed travelling. He had only recently passed his driver's test and was looking forward to additional trips this spring and summer. Rev. Herb Gale of St. James Presbyterian Church, Stouffville, conducted the service from the O'Neill Funeral Home, Dec. 11, with interment Stouffville Cemetery.

Education chairman welcomes successor

Harry Bowes, (right), Whitchurch-Stouffville's representative on the York Region Board of Education, has held the position of chairman on two occasions. In 1987, he turns the reins of office over to Town of Markham trustee Charles Cooper, (left), of Thornhill. Mr. Bowes still has two more years to run on his current trustee mandate. —Greg Coates
