Pot luck supper has spice of life

By ADA ALLEN

Variety is the spice of life, so they say and we sure had variable entertainment at a recent pot luck supper. You could almost call it The Thomson Court Theatre.

Judy Cline sang several lovely songs — then her triplets (yes, all three) executed some fancy jazz manoeuvres. The little girl had her heart in it but the boys looked at us as if they wished they were someplace else — always laughing — which became contagious all through their audience.

You know how boys are, but they were great and gave us a change of pace.

We were favored with the singing of Mrs. Cho (Village Milk and Variety, Main St.) she has such a beautiful voice. Her daughter Sarah age 13 treated us to some classical numbers on piano, quite a talented young lady.

A Mr. John Wilson dressed in his fine kilt also entertained with several songs in a deep resounding voice, many residents joined in on the choruses.

Ruth Hutchings came up with another comical reading and Dave Davies gave a monologue on a war story.

Thank you all for making this a delightful evening.

Kathy Morris, a resident was given special thanks for being available quite frequently to play for us.

It was an evening to remember. Oh, the supper was good too!
