Correction

Larry Malloy of Vancouver and formerly of Stouffville, attended the Testimonial Dinner in honor of Summitview Principal Lorne Roadway, May 8, at Spring Lakes Golf and Country Club. Larry is the son of Mrs. Virginia Malloy and the late Lambert Malloy and a nephew of Mrs. Wm. Malloy, Market Street, Stouffville. The family relationship was incorrect in The Tribune's May 13 edition.

Neighborly Notes

By JIM THOMAS

Fine talent

Great to see fastball back in Stouffville. And great to see so many local players in the lineup. Marvin Betz and Co. are to be commended for returning the sport to town after an absence of too many years. We hope fans give the club the support it deserves. Stouffville's home game nights are Wednesdays.

My mistake

Recently, I reported Stouffville's Music Mania to be the longest running variety show in Ontario. Not so, came a telephoned reply last week. Apparently, an organization called The Beavers at Westmorland United Church, Toronto, will mark its 50th anniversary in show biz next year. I stand corrected.

Flowery sight

No need to drive 500 miles to Washington for the Cherry Blossom Festival, said a Stouffville caller to The Tribune, Wednesday, just stand on Tindale Road and look east up Maytree Avenue. This I did, Thursday, and found it every bit as beautiful as the caller described. Perhaps the street's name should be changed to Crabapple Avenue.

Back in 1933

My thanks to Mrs. Dorothy Jarvis of Fred Varley Drive, Unionville, for a photo dating back to 1933 of students attending S.S. No. 7, Markham Township. The teacher, Louis Nichols, had 46 pupils on the roll including the following: Carl Steckley, George Rummy, Jack Rummy, Jack Barnett, Clarence Heise, Gordon Wagg, Bill Barnett, Phillip Rummy, Harold Cober, Helen Steckley, Marion Boston, Grace Steckley, Marion Boynton, Marion Hunt, Grace Boynton, Ruth Wagg, Anna Heise, Anna Baker, Rhoda Winger, Grace Montgomery, Jean Brilling, Dorothy Baker, Roberta Farquharson, Dorothy Steckley, Hilda Hills, Edna Wagg, Melvin Henderson, Leslie Hart, Louis Heise, Harold Heise, Arnold Montgomery, Leonard Appleton, Ted Montgomery, Bruce Empringham, Russell Heise, Harry Jones, Orval Steckley, Miriam Heise, Helen Barnett, Marion Winger, MaForie Hart, Velma Brilling, Alma Farquharson, Naomi Heise and Grace Baker. That was 54 years ago.

Let me know

Is there a graduate in your family? If so, I'd like to hear about it. Bring a photo (black and white or color) to The Tribune, with information attached. The picture can be picked up following publication. There is no charge.

Success story

Remember Linda Sargent? Many Stouffville folks will. Linda was an honors graduate of S.D.S.S. in 1968, later attending Trinity College, University of Toronto, enrolled in modern languages. Since then, Linda's continued to climb the ladder of success, now holding the position of Vice-President, Human Resources and Development with Central Canada Grocers Inc. The firm is Canada's largest food distributor and comprises Loblaw's Supermarket Limited, Combined Merchandisers Inc., National Grocers Co. Ltd. and Zehmart Limited. Linda was highly respected by high school staff and students alike. She was a chief organizer of a very successful Coffee House program held regularly in the basement of Christ Anglican Church, Sunset Boulevard.

Old to new

The congregation of Markham Missionary Church held their final service at the old location, 313 Main Street North, May 17. The first service in their new sanctuary is planned for Sunday, May 24 at 11 a.m. The Service of Dedication is set for Sunday, June 14 at 3:30 p.m. with a reception to follow. My thanks to Rev. Grant Sloss for keeping me in touch. It only seems like yesterday a sod turning marked the start of this very fine project.
