'Song sliced my soul'

The radio penetrated my comfort zone with a healing hurt. Ray Steven's song "Mr. Businessman" sliced my soul but the surgery returned my health. Perhaps it will help you too.

Itemize the things you covet
As you squander through your life
Bigger cars, bigger houses,
Term insurance for your wife,
Tuesday evenings with your harlot
And on Wednesday it's your charlatan analyst
He's high upon your list
You've got air conditioned sinuses
And dark disturbing doubt about religion.
And you keep those cards and letters going out
While your secretary's tempting you
Your morals are exempting you
From guilt and shame
Heaven knows you're not to blame.

Living On Purpose

Dave Petrescue

Did you see your children growing up today
And did you hear the music of their laughter
As they set about to play
Did you catch the fragrance of those roses in your garden
Did the morning sunlight warm your soul, brighten up your day,
Do you qualify to be alive
Or is the limit of your senses
So as only to survive.

Spending counterfeit incentive
Wasting precious time and health
Placing value on the worthless
Disregarding priceless wealth
You can wheel and deal the best of them
And steal if from the rest of them
You know the score
Their ethics are a bore.

Eighty-six proof anesthetic crutches
Prop you to the top
Where the smiles are all synthetic
And the ulcers never stop
When they take the final inventory
Yours will be the same sad story everywhere
No one will really care
No one more lonely than

This rich important man
Let's have your autograph
Endorse your epitaph

You better take care of business, Mr. Businessman,
What's your plan?
Get down to business, Mr. Businessman
If you can
Before it's too late
And you throw your life away.

Respectfully submitted, Dave Petrescue, Senior Pastor, Unionville Alliance Church.
