

New church opens

Milliken Wesleyan Church recently opened its doors with a special dedication service. Above, Erica Edwards, 2, finds something of interest behind her during the first service.

— Sjoerd Witteveen

Milliken Wesleyan church pastor Rev. Allan Summers delivered his first sermon in the new church building earlier this month. The congregation has been meeting at Milliken Mills Public School for the past four years. The new church is located on Kennedy Rd. north of Steeles Ave.

Day camp for asthma sufferers

The Lung Association of Metro Toronto and York Region are offering a new day-camp program especially for children with asthma.

Slugged "Breathless Wonders," the camp will run in two week programs through July and August for children aged 6 to 12.

Virginia Cresswell-Jones said the camp is a completely new venture, and very worthwhile.

"It allows children with severe asthma the opportunity to participate in a day camp with the security of knowing medical staff and services are available at all times," she said.

The camp emphasizes fun and recreation while providing education on asthma medication.

Sponsors include Allen & Hanbury's Glaxco Co. (pharmaceuticals), The Lung Association, and Hugh MacMillan Medical Centre, where the camp is being held.

The cost is $75 per child (subsidies available) for any or all the sessions. For registration and more information, please call The Lung Association at 864-1112.

Province paying subsidies

The Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications has authorized continuing subsidies for the public transportation system in Markham.

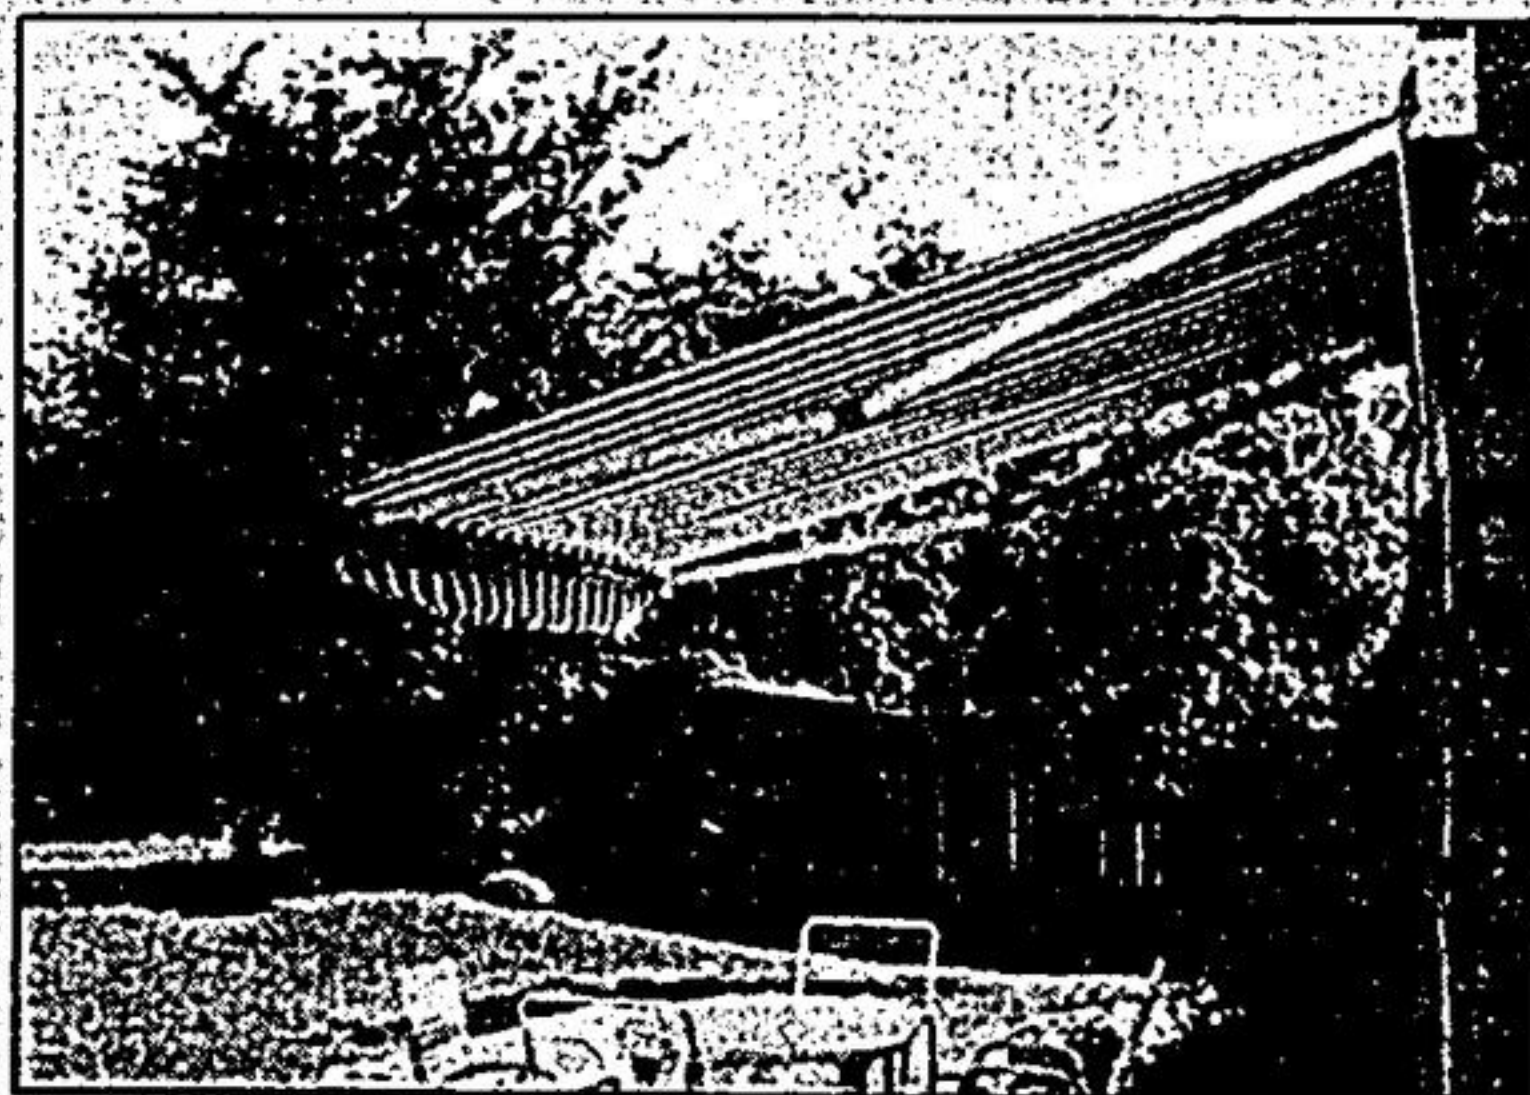

The Transit Operating Assistance Program has been allocated $972,300 and the Transit Capital Asset Assistance Program an additional $248,150.

Don Cousens, MPP commented, "Our municipalities cannot continue to carry on the kind of services that are expected of them without significant provincial assistance. I am very pleased that the Minister, Mr. Ed Fulton, has been as responsive as he has to the needs of our community and has shown a good indication that he will continue to review additional capital requirements of our community."

The Ontario government is also assisting public transportation for physically disabled persons in the amount of $79,675.
