

'Citizen' honored

Mrs. Nora McRoberts, wife of 'Mac' McRoberts, the now-retired principal of Whitchurch-Highlands Public School, has been named Aurora's Citizen of the Year.

The announcement was made at a Canada Day ceremony in the Aurora Community Centre, July 1.

Mrs. McRoberts has been an active volunteer with the Canadian Cancer Society over 25 years, serving as a canvasser, a captain and Aurora campaign chairperson.

She's also a volunteer canvasser for the Arthritis Society.

Mrs. McRoberts provides transportation for cancer patients to and from Toronto hospitals. She also provides a similar service for residents of Aurora's Resthaven Nursing Home.

Other associations include the Independent Order of the Daughter's of the Empire and Aurora United Church.

The selection committee included — Town Mayor John West, Chief Administrative Officer Bud Rodgers and Banner staff writer Reg Watson.

ANDREA MCGOWAN

Medallion

STOUFFVILLE — Andrea McGowan, Lloyd Avenue, Stouffville, may be the town's youngest swimmer to receive a bronze medallion.

At the time of passing her tests, she was only twelve. She marked her 13th birthday July 23.

Andrea began swimming at age four, first at Uxpool, Uxbridge and later at Stouffville. She's a Grade 8 student at Orchard Park School.

Swimming's her favorite sport, Andrea says. She enjoys extra practice at the family cottage on Georgian Bay.

Andrea's next goal is the bronze cross. She hopes some day to serve as a lifeguard.

Ordinarily, the bronze medallion isn't awarded 12-year-olds, Andrea explained, but because her thirteenth birthday was so close, an exception was made.
