

"Girl Next Door"

A musical mermaid

STOUFVILLE — Sixteen-year-old Susan Winger is a girl with many talents. And she takes full advantage of them all.

This pleasant Grade 11 student is a member of the Stingrays competitive swim team at Newmarket. She also played the flugel horn in the Ambassadors Drum and Bugle Corp.

After a brief rest, she hopes to rejoin the ranks of both.

She's our "Girl Next Door." Susan is a middle member in the family of Doug and Crystal Winger, North Street, Stouffville. She has a sister Sarah, 18, and a brother Paul, 15. Her father is the principal at E.T. Crowe Public School in Markham.

As a competitive swimmer, Susan would spend up to 12 hours a week in the water. "I miss both the competition and the companionship," she admits. She hopes to get back in the swim this fall.

Musically, Susan's skills extend far beyond the flugel horn. She plays the trumpet in the S.D.S.S. Band and the piano.

Although Susan appreciates the benefits of this training, she also relates to the personal and the influence instructor Bill Thomas of the Ambassadors had on her life. "He showed me what music was all about," she said. She describes him as "fabulous."

Susan speaks in glowing terms of Stouffville High.

"The teachers are great," she says, "especially Mr. Rehill."

"Mr. Rehill displays a lot of feeling. He's easy to relate to and to understand — more like a friend helping a friend."

Music and English are favorite subjects.

Strangely enough, Susan says having a principal father is a decided plus. "He's very interested in what goes on at school and very understanding." Her mother, she says, is equally supportive. "I enjoy a close relationship with my parents."

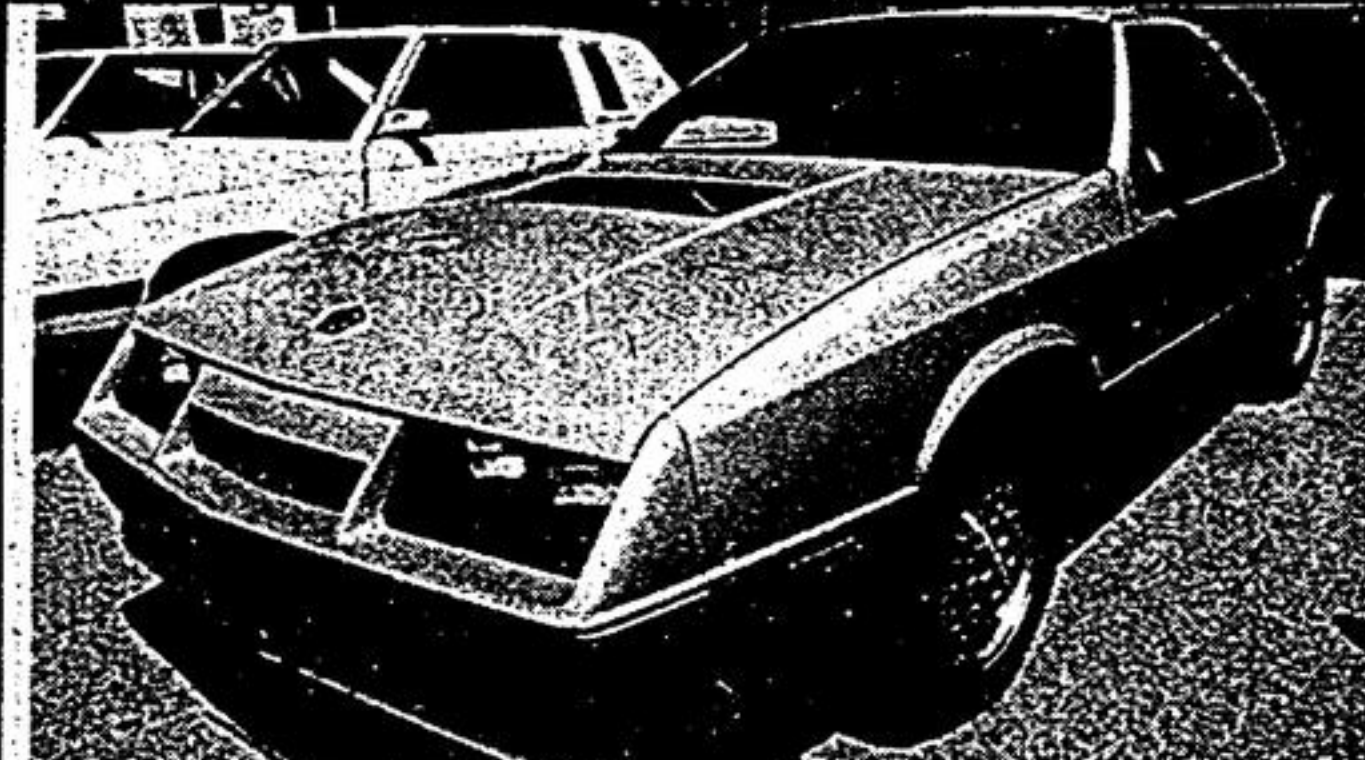

Tribune readers wishing to meet Susan will likely find her at the Garden Valley Fruit Market, Main Street West. She handles cash there, but her smiles are free.

Sixteen-year-old Susan Winger, North Street, Stouffville, has two distinct loves — swimming and music. This fall, she hopes to rejoin the Newmarket Stingrays Swim Club and The Ambassadors Drum and Bugle Corp. She especially enjoys each in the breast stroke and the flugel horn. — Jim Thomas
