

Maintaining standards top priority

Dear Editor:

"Standards of personal acquisition must be maintained at the highest possible level."

All the folks I have met in the four years I've been in Whitechurch-Stouffville, have shown the intelligence, the character and the motivation to successfully participate in the planning and organizational management required by our Town to successfully pursue all the tasks and meet our commitment to excellence.

We must be flexible and participative. We must convey our understanding of the needs of this Town and motivate others to do a little more in terms of recognition and quality of life.

We must show more eagerness to contribute in the community. Whitechurch-Stouffville is changing incredibly fast. It is no longer "Slowville". No resident can afford to be out of touch. We must understand the paradigm change process that is, "to be able to see much sooner, major changes in our lives, society and the world."

The way the Town is managed has changed over the past few years. You and I have a responsibility to do all we can to ensure we extend the practice of our business and life principles to reflect this change.

Creativity and lateral thinking will make the difference between problem-solving and problem-finding. It is not a chance event or a bi-product of any ego-seeking temperament, or a mysterious magical gift that some people have and others don't. Creativity can be helpful to this Town, if one takes the time to participate.

A powerful wave is shaking the already turbulent business world.

It's a wave of service, and the most successful towns are riding it. We should be also, if we are looking for success in today's competitive economy.

The innovative businessmen and the entrepreneurs of 'Main Street' should take more time in analyzing the changes in our Town. Innovators are 'champions' and their ideas are valuable in the planning and the strategic development of Whitechurch-Stouffville.

I hope this letter is a source of high octane energy that sparks new understanding, new ideas, new opportunities for residents to participate.

We should kick off 'Excellence Week' in Whitechurch-Stouffville where we all take part in the reduction of waste within the community, our places of business, our schools, etc. Let's work as a team!

If you, the readers have other thoughts on how we can improve our Town, I'll be pleased to hear from you.

Sincerely,
Nick Tatone,
R.R. 4, Stouffville

Applications being accepted

YORK REGION — The York Regional Police Force is accepting applications for the position of Auxiliary Constable on the York Regional Police Auxiliary Organization.

Comprised of citizens residing in York Region who assist their police force by volunteering their services to the community, applicants must be between 21 and 50 years of age and be Canadian citizens or British subjects. They must also be in good health and are required to undergo the same screening process as regular police officers.

Auxiliary officers will undergo an extensive 12 week training program and before they are eligible to be sworn in, must pass examinations based on their training. They are further required to devote at least eight hours to field duties per month and attend one training session per month. The field duties are usually comprised of foot or vehicle patrols.

The officers assist in special events in the community such as Santa Claus parades and Spring and Fall Fairs. These men and women are also called upon to assist in searching for missing persons or are used for crowd control at disaster scenes, etc.

This is a volunteer organization and successful applicants will begin their training sessions early in 1988.

Anyone interested in joining the York Regional Auxiliary Organization is asked to pick up an application form at: York Regional Police Headquarters, 114 Yonge Street South, Newmarket.
