Drivers needed urgently

By DEB BODINE CHAMPION
A severe shortage of volunteer drivers is depleting the coffers of the Markham Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society.

"At this rate we will be way over budget just one third of the way through the year," said Marjorea Roblin at the Wednesday night meeting. Transportation constitutes the largest portion of the Cancer Society budget.

Cancer patients are transported to and from either Princess Margaret Hospital or Sunnybrook Hospital for treatment, usually by volunteer drivers who receive remuneration of 18.75 cents per kilometre. The major expense comes when a driver cannot be found and taxi services must be used.

"It costs $55 to $60 per trip to go to Princess Margaret Hospital," Roblin explained. "The taxi bill for Unionville alone totalled $500 for the month of August."

While drivers are needed at all three branches of the Markham unit: Markham, Unionville and Stouffville, the hardest hit by far is Unionville.

"Unionville just can't seem to get drivers," lamented Roblin, expressing grave concern over the problem.

According to Roblin, cancer patients can be required to go for treatments every day for anywhere from 21 to 35 days. With drivers volunteering one trip per week, the need for drivers grows very quickly.

Anyone interested in driving for the Canadian Cancer Society, call the Markham office (294-5925), or either of the transportation convenors, Doris Kowalchuk (294-6808) or Sally Ann Etherington (294-1287).
