

Troupes on the town

Members of Guide and Scout troupes visited Markham Council Tuesday night in an effort to become acquainted with municipal government. Councillor Fred Cox hands out town pins as a keepsake of their visit. Knowledge of municipal government is part of the youngsters' public awareness program towards a citizenship badge. They were also treated to the inaugural visit of Sparky, a remote controlled dog, used to promote fire prevention awareness. —Sjoerd Witteveen

Christmas charity

At least two Markham firms are shoring up their charitable thoughts with pre-Christmas projects.

Family Trust is organizing a community toy drive for the 10th consecutive year. People are asked to call Family Trust at any of their branches and donate toys.

Last year representatives collected more than 6,000 gifts which were distributed by local charities.

Also, Wood Gundy account executives are donating 100 per cent of their commissions on any stock traded on Dec. 15 to a children's charity.

Unionville

The Mainstreet Merchants are sponsoring an outdoor Christmas Decorating Contest. Prizes will be awarded to those homeowners judged to have the best Christmas display. The contest this year will be open to all residents of Unionville.

Prizes will be awarded on the evening of December 4th, the start of our Olde Tyme Christmas. We are very proud of how our Mainstreet looks and at Christmas time it takes on that added charm. With the enthusiastic support of all residents we can create a festive and merry scene throughout our community this holiday season.

The judging will take place during the first week of December. Please decorate your home in a style and theme of your choice. For any history buffs out there you may want to keep in mind that we are a village circa the late 1800's, and create a real Olde Tyme Christmas scene. Have fun with your own creativity and if there are any questions feel free to contact me or our committee.

Yours truly,
