

Goodwood pupils entertain parents

Goodwood Public School hosted its annual Christmas concert for parents and friends last Wednesday. Jenny Kennedy (left), 5, gives a coy look for the camera as the kindergarten class finishes up rousing renditions of Five Little Reindeer, Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer and Santa's Helpers. At right, kindergarten pupil Tara Brown (front centre) joins in song with the rest of her classmates.

Later during the concert, Mrs. Sobil led the choir in song. The Goodwood school concert was one of many throughout the area. — Photos by Denise McDonald

Have your say:

What would you most like to find under the tree on Christmas morning? (Asked at Summitview Public School.)

JASON DAVIS

"A GI snowracer (a sled with a steering wheel and brakes) because it's fun to play with and you get to go down hills really fast."

ANDREA BOYD

"Clothes, a gold ring and anything made possible. They're just some things I would like. I already know I'm getting them from my Mom because I snooped."

TAMMIE RAY

"I would like a pair of skis, clothes and a TV so that I can watch it by myself without my brothers and parents bothering me all the time."

JACOB PATTIMORE

"A Nintendo entertainment centre. It's a video game that has a little robot you can play with. I've been asking for it for a few years now, but I've never got it."
