Voice in the wilderness

Dear Editor:
Through your newspaper, I have a message for Mr. Karl Winterstein of Claremont re his passion for racing pigeons. If he wants to make an impression on Whitchurch-Stouffville Council he should do one of two things: (1). Move into our municipality or (2).

Have someone from our municipality plead his case. Politicians, being what they are, will not seriously entertain submissions from 'outsiders'. Why should they? They have everything to lose. If they go along with the pro-pigeon complainant they only ruffle the feathers. (no pun intended), of the anti-pigeon complainant. Since the former doesn't live here and the latter does, it's obvious to what side they'll lean.

Sincerely,
Wayne Kennedy,
Ironwood Crescent,
Stouffville

New weenies big on value

STOUFFVILLE — It's called 'Weenies', something new to Stouffville.

Owners Angelo and Theresa Chiavatti and family specialize in hotdogs, many varieties of hotdogs.

Their shop is located at 18 Edward Street, next to the Pizzeria. They opened for a first time Saturday.

While a haven for hotdogs, Angelo and Theresa will also feature waffles and ice cream.

The 'top dog' at Weenies is the Chicago 58, an all-beef wiener so popular at Harbourfront. They also have The Mutt, The Golden Retriever, The Schnauzer, The Pizza Dog and The Cheese Dog.

Angelo and Theresa live on Main Street, Uxbridge. They have two children, Sean, 12 and Sarah nine.

Weenies will be open Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Sundays also, if business warrants, Mr. Chiavatti said.
