

Legion Ladies 'throw a spread'

When the Stouffville Legion Ladies put on a luncheon, it's a spread. More than 350 people attended the noon-day meal Feb. 24 in the Legion Hall. Yes, the men pitched in (oo like Rae McFadden, a long-time helping hand at all Legion functions.

Paul Brillinger, Orchard Park Blvd., Stouffville, receives a hot cup of tea from Legion Auxiliary member Bernice Nelson. The Legion Ladies host a noon-day luncheon once a year. The price (hot beef and dessert) is only six dollars.

Cliff Alken, Rupert Avenue, Stouffville, isn't above grabbing a towel and drying dishes. Cliff's another energetic worker who crosses the line between men's and ladies' fund-raising activities.

Information please!

Dear Editor:
There's been much in print lately concerning industrial build-up proposed for the Gormley area of Whitchurch-Stouffville.

Doubtless, the Hwy. 404 corridor lends itself to this type of development.

I keep wondering why we the residents of Gormley aren't consulted. We shouldn't have to read about it in the newspaper. Instead, we should be told first-hand.

I'm not objecting to an industrial park adjacent to Hwy. 404. What bothers me is the fact it's being done without prior consultation with the residents.

I feel Council should call a public meeting and enlighten homeowners about what their proposals are.

We may object or we may approve. Who's to know?

Right now, most of us are in the dark.

The same goes for residents on the Richmond Hill side of the boundary.

We don't want to wake up some morning and see a factory under construction next door.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Doreen Packer,
Gormley

Symphony at Library

The Toronto Symphony Education Program will perform at the Whitchurch-Stouffville Library March 18, starting at 10 a.m.

The program called "Symphony Street" features the music of Le Trio.

Besides performing, the musicians will demonstrate how instruments function and request audience participation.

Adults and children are encouraged to attend.
