New foundation to foster culture

By DENISE McDONALD
Coordinating officials of Stouffville District Secondary School's annual Variety Show production were the recipients of a $500 donation last Thursday, from the newly founded Whitchurch-Stouffville Cultural Foundation.

"We approved to give these students the money because we're satisfied what they're doing is something this community really needs," said Foundation chairman Joe Lebovic.

Although originally formed last fall, the Foundation wasn't incorporated until recently. It's comprised of founding board members Joe Lebovic, Eric Button, Eldred King, George Schlukbier and Wolf Lebovic and steering committee members Dave Waite, Jean Barkey, Linda Giles, Roger Glazon, Lorne Boadway, George Schlukbier and Eric Button.

Advisory board decides

According to Mr. Lebovic he and his brother donated $25,000 to the Foundation to be used within a year. It is an advisory committee's responsibility to recommend how the money should be spent.

"We have the money and we're looking for projects that will expand cultural activities in Whitchurch-Stouffville," he said. "If the projects are worthwhile we are prepared to fund them."

Mr. Lebovic said he's pleased to support the high school's variety show, and looks forward to doing the same for other projects.

Staff coordinator Nevil Hodgson was equally pleased to be recipient.

Costumes subsidized

"We're obliged periodically to replace those things necessary to mount a show," he said. In order to break even every year, we've asked the dancers to subsidize the greater portion of their costumes. This money will certainly allow us to bring in more ambitious costuming."

Although the Foundation intends to donate $500 subsidy to one group a month, such funding will only be available to those who are unable to get subsidization elsewhere.

Improve cultural life

"We want to do things to support cultural activities that will improve on Stouffville's cultural life, but have no other funding," said Mr. Lebovic.

Although the Lebovics said more money will be made available to the Foundation next year, they are anxiously seeking support from the business community.

New on block

"My brother and I are the new kids on the block, and surely if we can donate the money, it behooves the business community to contribute as well," he said. "There's money there and there's going to be more next year, but I would like to see other people partici-

Funding the arts

Students at Stouffville District Secondary School are the winners with the establishment of the Whitchurch-Stouffville Cultural Foundation. The fledgling organization donated $500 toward the school's variety show production. Founding member Joe Lebovic (centre) hands the cheque to stupate, not only those who need the money but those who can give it as well."

Right now we only have a limited budget," added Eric Button. "But we hope, through groups like the Variety Show, to make the Foundation's name known."
