Village mourns for Violet Wagg

By MARJORIE WOODLAND
Goodwood friends of the Herb Wagg family extend sympathy to Herb and daughters Doreen Home and Kendra in the loss of a wife and mother.

Violet died suddenly in late April. The family were long-time residents of the village and active members of the United Church here before they moved to Mount Albert. The funeral was held in the Funeral Chapel there with interment in the Goodwood cemetery.

Congratulations to Mrs. Dick Jones on being chosen School Bus Driver of the Year. Gertie has been transporting students to classes for 19 years and was awarded a plaque by the Durham Teacher's Federation for safe-driving and courteous service.

A family work bee was well-attended Saturday at the Baptist church when many willing hands were busy cleaning and brightening up the interiors.

Anniversary services will be held at the Goodwood Baptist Church on May 29 at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The guest speaker at both services will be Rev. Sidney Kerr. Mrs. Harold Gribble of Goodwood will be guest soloist in the morning service and the Crossovers musical group in the evening. You are cordially invited to celebrate the 112 years of this church's gospel witness in the Goodwood community.

The Goodwood seniors enjoyed a holiday last Wednesday by bus to Niagara Falls. The Tivoli Miniature World at St. Catharines was of special interest to the group. A pretty wedding was solemnized in the historic St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Scarborough on May 7. The bride was Patricia Maye and the groom Robert Chandler of Toronto.

The bride's sister Dawna Manzo was her matron of honor while the groom was supported by his friend Chris Faiers. Sheryl Maye, sister of the bride, Karina Luoma and Sheila Garriak were the bridesmaids. Little Aynsley Garriak performed the duties of flower girl.

Sheri Brethour of Uxbridge was soloist during the signing of the register. The reception was held at the Ontario Federation of Labor building, Don Mills. The bride's brother, Michael Maye of Oakwood acted as Master of Ceremonies. The couple will reside in Scarborough.
