Joggers beware

SGT. RODNEY SINE
York Regional Police

Recently, I was travelling the back streets of Richmond Hill on my way to work when I received a nasty jolt.

An early morning jogger travelling the wrong way down the street, cut in front of my car. I nearly ran him down.

The street had sidewalks, which would cause a person to wonder why the gentleman was running on the road.

Jogging has become a popular form of exercise. Every day, hundreds of joggers take to the streets in their quest for fitness. Drivers are urged to take extra care when passing joggers. The joggers themselves are reminded that they stand to lose the most in a pedestrian/auto crash, regardless of who is at fault.

Joggers are cautioned to use sidewalks wherever possible. Where there are no sidewalks, walk or jog facing traffic.
