Election interest

Dear Editor:

A brief note to say I find municipal elections rather boring. The fact only about 30 per cent of all ratepayers turn out to vote suggests most folks feel the same.

However, there's already a feeling of excitement in the air with regard to Whitchurch-Stouffville's election.

Councillor Morley has created this excitement in announcing his candidacy for mayor.

At this point in time, I don't know who I'll support. One thing sure, I'll be supporting someone, which is more than happened the last time around.

Policy-wise, I feel there's little to choose between Mr. Morley and Mrs. Sainsbury. Personality-wise, they're worlds apart. The image each projects will tell the tale; not a good measure of a candidate, but often the way.

Remember Pierre Trudeau and Robert Stanfield?

A little Sainsbury or Morley mania would be good for our Town don't you think?

Sincerely,

Gordon Blackwood,
R.R. 2, Stouffville
