Victor Foote, formerly of Stouffville and now living at 45 Carnegie Street, Port Perry, looks on his 1964 Ford Galaxie 500 as a close friend. But, sooner or later, even close friends must part. Because he no longer drives, Victor has his car up for sale. The asking price is $5,000. — Jim Thomas

Victor will shed a tear
'Friends' must part

Victor Foote is selling his pride and joy. The object of his affection is a 1964 Ford Galaxie 500. He bought it used from Talpar Motors in Markham 10's in showroom shape. Mr. Foote, formerly of Stouffville, and now residing at 45 Carnegie Street, Port Perry, looks on his Ford almost like a close friend. However, the fact he doesn't drive and now requires the room, he feels it only practical that the two must part.

"Isn't she a beauty?" Vic enthuses, "not a mark on her." The upholstery, too, he says, "good as new."

The owner says the car was never driven during the winter (thus the body wasn't exposed to sand and salt). In addition, he kept the underside oiled, preserving the metal.

The paint job, metallic green, is new. The speedometer reads 46,400 legitimate miles.

The car comes equipped with power brakes and power steering. It has a 352 V-8 engine.

How much? Victor was asked.

He thinks for a moment. What price does one put on something so personal?

"I feel she's worth $5,000," he replies after some hesitation.

That, and more. For an automobile of such vintage is almost a part of the family, Victor will say farewell with a tear in his eye.

Huge craft show and sale

The second annual Antique and Craft Show and Sale will be held Sunday, Aug. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the Sunderland Arena. The event is sponsored by the Sunderland Agricultural Society. Admission is $1.00; children under twelve free.

Last year, 1,300 people attended. The crowd this year is expected to be even larger. Forty dealers and craft people have reserved space for their displays, some coming from as far distant as Dwight, Brampton and Peterborough.

Ample free parking is available with a children's park located nearby.

The 137th Sunderland Fall Fair is Sept. 13 and 14.
