

Super Saturday Sept. 17

STOUFFVILLE — Sunday school's a thing of the past at Stouffville Pentecostal Church. Instead, it's Super Saturday School.

The break with tradition will begin this Saturday (Sept. 17) from 9:30 to 10:45 a.m.

Service time Sunday has been moved ahead to 10:30 a.m.

"It's a major step," Rev. Craig Pitts told The Tribune. "many churches are watching."

Rev. Pitts described the response as "fabulous."

"The decision was made by the church board and everyone said 'fantastic'," he explained.

Saturday programs provides more flexibility, Pastor Pitts continued. Participants will involve children 4 to 11 years.

Super Saturday planning began two months ago, Rev. Pitts noted. "We stopped and took a look at ourselves," he stated.

With a team teaching arrangement in practice, adults can take alternate Saturdays off, Mr. Pitts said.

Last Saturday, a children's parade was organized through several Stouffville subdivisions, welcoming other boys and girls to join the fun.

Induction service welcomes pastor home

Rev. Glenn Gibson was inducted into the pastorate of Stouffville Missionary Church at a special service Sunday. Rev. Gibson, formerly of Stouffville, is part of a three-team ministry with Rev. Douglas Gray and Pastor Charles Mashner.

Maintain a tradition

Two reserve championships for Purcell family ponies

The accomplishments of the Purcell family in C.N.E. and Royal Winter Fair competitions have become part of the history of both institutions.

Lionel Purcell, McCowan Road, Markham, began showing Shetland ponies more than 40 years ago. Members of his family are carrying on the tradition and adding to the lengthy list of awards.

At the C.N.E. just concluded, Purcell Shetlands were prominent in the winners' circle. Handler Blair Purcell and two entries trotted off with Reserve Grand Champion Stallion and Reserve Grand Champion Mare.

For the stallion, it marked the fourth year he's won either a Grand Championship or a Reserve. For the mare, it marked her first year of eligibility.

While the list of award recipients obtained by The Tribune is far from complete the following were prominent:

Betty Reeve, R.R. 5, Orillia, (and formerly of Markham); A.B.C. Farms, Leaskdale; Barbara Zemp, R.R. 2, Stouffville;

Mrs. Wm. Dicks, R.R. 4, Stouffville; Sher-Kade Farm, Stouffville; Ronald McHugh, Goodwood; Ian DeGruchy, R.R. 1, Ashburn; Chestnut Hill Morgans, R.R. 2, Uxbridge; Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Durant, R.R. 1, Unionville; Iris Hennigar, R.R. 1, Newmarket; Alexandra
