Inspects Jamaica damage

STOUFFVILLE — Ged Stonehouse of Stonehouse Travel, Stouffville, recently returned from hurricane-ravaged Jamaica with a first-hand report on conditions there.

Mr. Stonehouse was dispatched to the Caribbean holiday haven by the Association of Canadian Travel Alliances. He inspected conditions in the company of the Jamaican Minister of Tourism.

"Canadian travel retailers needed to know if they should be selling Jamaica," Stonehouse said, "and I was anxious to go because our office had sent two relief groups immediately following the storm."

While some areas were hit harder than others, 80 percent of Jamaica's hotels will be back in operation by this weekend, (Oct. 14-15); and 95 percent will be ready by mid-November," he stated.

The majority of hotel owners are taking advantage of the forced interruption to do a complete refurbishing job on their buildings, Stonehouse said. "Many will be better than they were before," he stated.

Mr. Stonehouse reported his findings at a press conference in Toronto, Friday.

Drug arrests

UXBRIDGE — Two Uxbridge men are among 18 people facing drug trafficking charges following a three-month probe by Durham Regional Police.

The investigation, dubbed Operation Corkscrew, culminated in the arrests.

But police say drugs seized in the investigation do little to stem the flow.

During the probe, police officers purchased various quantities of drugs over a three-month period, including cocaine, hashish, marijuana and percodan. The drugs had an estimated street value of $7,000.

Uxbridge residents facing drug trafficking charges are Donald Norman Grant, 22, of Main Street and Andrew Michael Williams, 24, of Brock Street West.

Beautiful wedding ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Newmarch are pictured here following their beautiful wedding ceremony Sept. 23, 1988 in St. James Cathedral, Toronto. The bride is the former Courtney Wallis, daughter of Newman and Suzanne Wallis, O'Brien Avenue, Stouffville. The groom is the son of Stan and Elva Newmarch, Main Street East, Stouffville. The happy couple have taken up residence in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Library Week

STOUFFVILLE — This is Ontario Library Week.

To mark the occasion, the Whitchurch-Stouffville Library is holding a four-day celebration Oct. 18 to 21.

An Open House is planned for this Friday, (Oct. 21). Library volunteers will be honored and refreshments will be served from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Library is launching a computerized circulation system. New plastic membership cards are being distributed. Anyone seven years old and over who resides in Whitchurch-Stouffville or an adjoining municipality, is eligible for membership. There is no charge.

Those patrons already registered are asked to pick up their new cards. Non-members are urged to join.

A draw of membership card numbers will be made and a gift awarded the lucky winner.
