

Recognize Home Support Services' Week

Oct. 16 to 22 is Home Support Services' Week across Ontario. To mark the occasion, Ginny Burrow, (right), of the Stouffville Home Support staff presents an official pin to Mayor Fran Sainsbury while Clara Stout, (left), looks on. In addition to the homemaking program, the organization operates Meals-To-Wheels, Blood Pressure and Foot Clinics and a Video Club. The chairperson is Kay Marshall, O'Brien Avenue.

Dr. Frederick Mulholland

A man who cared

By KATE GILDERDALE

The recent death of Dr. Frederick Mulholland has left his family, friends and those who knew him as a tireless and caring volunteer, saddened at the loss of an exceptional individual.

Dr. Mulholland was born at his family's homestead in the Bathurst and Lawrence area on October 15, 1907. His father died before his second birthday, and his mother rented out the homestead and raised her two children in the city. They returned to their home, and Dr. Mulholland farmed there for some time before going back to school.

He graduated from Victoria College in 1937, after a five year course in dentistry. He was in practice until he enlisted in the Canadian Dental Corps, which was attached to the Royal Canadian Air Force, where he served for four years during the war.

Dr. Mulholland married Emily Ashworth in August of 1946, and in 1947 he sold the family farm. The Mulhollands moved to Cashel, where they farmed from 1950 until they moved to Markham in 1980, raising sheep, goats and horses.

Always a willing volunteer, Dr. Mulholland was a cub master in the city for 18 years and a founding director of the York Region branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association. He was also on the board of management of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for fifteen years and was made an honorary member in recent years.

After he took up farming, he also did volunteer work in dentistry in North York schools. Dr. Mulholland became legally blind in the early 1960s, but he was an active volunteer at the skating club where his family were members. He was also partly disabled because of arthritis, which started during the war.

In the late 60s and early 70s, he was welfare administrator for the Town of Markham, visiting and interviewing people who applied for benefits. His job took him to Richmond Hill, Markham and Unionville, with his wife in the role of driver.

Despite his deteriorating health, Dr. Mulholland was a keen and competent handyman and he and his wife built their house at Cashel together. His volunteer work brought him into contact with many people, and he was regarded as a kind and compassionate man. Those who knew him as welfare administrator appreciated his caring and considerate attitude towards them.

The Mulhollands' 42 year marriage was truly a partnership. "We had a wonderful and interesting life," said his wife. "We were a team and we always worked together. He was a man who loved people." Even during the last 28 months which he spent in Sunnybrook Hospital, he never lost his interest in others or his sense of humour.

'Open House'

On Saturday, Oct. 22, Jim and Franke Lewis, formerly of R.R. 1, Stouffville and later of Ballantrae, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

To mark the occasion, an 'open house' will be held at First Markham Baptist Church from 1 to 5 p.m., on the grounds of the Markham Museum.

Family relatives and friends are invited.

Service was held at the Dixon-Garland Funeral Home in Markham on September 12, with interment at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ellis Ashworth, Dennis Ashworth, David Cole, Geoffrey Rech, Ken Page and David Zeggil.

Dr. Mulholland leaves his wife Emily, his daughter Martha Gardhouse and her husband Ed of Schomberg, his son David at home and his granddaughter Rebecca.
