Off and running

CROSS-COUNTRY: Dagmar Ski Area was the sight of a regional cross-country run this past week. Area public schools from York and Durham boards of education converged on the Dagmar area to take part in the annual quest to determine the best cross-country runners around. The top three in each category advanced to the finals yesterday at the Markham Fairgrounds. Here, a group of Ajax and Claremont runners sets out on the course.

Cross-country team defending fifth consecutive school crown

Led by the girls' team, the Stouffville District Secondary School cross-country running unit warmed up for this week's York Regional Championships at Wagon Wheel today.

The course, located on 10th Line just south of the Aurora Sideroad, was the site of last week's six-school practice event, and is the venue for the Regional run-off today.

The Midget Girls won their team event, while the SDSS Junior Girls placed second in their division, as did the Midget Boys.

Top runners for SDSS in the individual events were Senior runner Anne Beecher, and Junior Michelle Powell, who both placed seventh in their categories. SDSS Cross-country coach Dale Grose acknowledges it will be tough going for Stouffville as it attempts to capture the York Region title for the sixth consecutive year.

"We've won it handily for five years in succession. However, this last year the competition looks ready for us and it will be a close race for first overall," said Grose.

Don Barker leads with 894

Looking for help

The Tribune needs your help. If you manage or coach a local sports team or individual, you can help by submitting your accomplishments to the paper for publication in our newly expanded sports section.

As well, we are on the look-out for notable athletes. Managers or coaches should gather school photos or head-and-shoulders pictures of your team members and we can use them to accompany stories about your club or individual athletes.
