Smoking area will require student action

By ANDREA GRUNDY
SDSS Columnist
"Do you feel like a second-class citizen? If so, write the board of education a letter."

These were the words of Principal Peter Bright one morning a few weeks ago. Unfortunately, people at the high school either misunderstood or didn't hear his comment.

Many students thought he called them "second-class citizens." This wasn't true. If anything, Mr. Bright sided with the students and helped by encouraging them to write letters to the York Region Board of Education.

You may be wondering what the letters need to be written for. Students (and teachers) who smoke need a place to go. It is unfair for them to have to stand off school property, often in the rain, to smoke.

There is no sheltered place for any of them to go. But on the other side of the issue, it isn't fair that non-smokers have to walk through a maze of people on their way to and from school.

Some may say that smokers don't need to smoke. That is simply an opinion, not a fact. Actually, nicotine is a very addictive substance and a hard thing to free oneself from.

Others may say "they didn't have to start smoking in the first place." This may be true but some reasons that people have started smoking are serious.

A few reasons I know of include peer pressure, a way to release stress, or having parents that smoke. For these people, smoking is often a way of relieving tension. It is definitely more than a way to fit in with the crowd.

The schools should have a designated smoking area on the property.

The board is being unfair to those who wish, or need, to smoke. These people are equal to those who don't smoke. We are given the right to be sheltered from the weather and oncoming cars. The others should be as well.

In this day and age we feel compelled to save whales and dolphins but when it comes to high school students who wish to smoke in a warmer, safer environment, no one does anything.

And if it upsets the smoking students so much they should do something about it. Mr. Bright's suggestion just may work. The only way the board of education will know their feelings is if they receive some input from students and teachers alike.

I believe the students at the school are not trying hard enough to get the smoking area back. One person I know, who shall remain nameless, managed to get a petition together with 150 signatures on it of people who felt there should be a smoking area.

Unfortunately, the petition never left his hands. If this were our school, fights for its rights we might as well give up now. At this rate, we'll never be able to reach our goals.

I am willing to help out in any way that I can, for I believe these people aren't asking too much. All they want is what they deserve.
