SYLVAN WILL.

Sylvan is a group of neighbourhood educational centres designed to help your child do better in school. We test in order to pinpoint the specific areas in which your child needs help. And we attack the problem with an individually designed programme. Positive motivation, tangible rewards, warm friendly encouragement, an experience of success right from the start, and a certified teacher who provides individualized attention make all the difference.

Festival of Bells is an annual tradition

It may have started just a year ago, but the Festival of Bells shows every sign of becoming an annual tradition in Stouffville. The big night this year is Friday, Dec. 2 at 6:45 p.m. The church bells will start ringing out their chimes, inviting everyone to meet at the Clock Tower in the Town Square at 7 p.m. to enjoy an evening of Christmas carols, fellowship and fun.

Making sure things runs smoothly will be Master of Ceremonies Lorne Boardway. Councillor Jim Sanders will join Lorne to light the tree, while the Whitevale Bells will keep the bells ringing on the portable stage between 7 and 8 p.m.

It's a night to enjoy the pleasures of carol singing, and if some people have trouble remembering the words, members of the Music Mania chorus will be distributing carol sheets to help out.

They'll also treat visitors to some of their own favorite Christmas songs. Summitview Public School students will add their own selection of carols.

Family Trust will again provide a welcome cup of hot chocolate to stave off the chilly evening air. No Christmas celebration would be complete without Santa himself, and The Tribune has persuaded him to interrupt his busy schedule to join residents that night, complete with a good supply of candy canes.

Once festivities at the town square are over, everyone is invited to visit downtown stores which will be open until 9 p.m.
