Special day at Church

By MARJORIE WOODLAND
Sunday, Dec. 11 is a special day at Goodwood United Church, designated as White Gift Sunday. The children will participate in the service as they present "The Hanging of the Green." A Christmas basket will be packed for a family consisting of a father and two girls. After the 10 a.m. service, hot chocolate and cookies will be served. Ed Commach has been in Uxbridge Cottage Hospital to receive treatment for a badly infected foot. Blood poisoning set in after a nail puncture.

Mexico's pleasant climate was enjoyed by Herman and Inga Clausen recently, as they exchanged a week of Ontario's dull, chilly days for a warmer climate of 35 to 40 degrees Celsius.

Last Friday evening was the Christmas Fellowship dinner at Goodwood Baptist Church. Christmas carols, a short play depicting the true Christmas spirit and a gift exchange all preceded the dedication of the large nativity scene displayed at the front of the church. The young people have worked on the project for weeks with help from some of the seniors.

Effects of sexual assault shown by SDSS students

Students in the senior drama classes presented an impressive performance on sexual assault for the Grade 9s. Many of the scenes were difficult to perform but all who took part in it were quite convincing in their roles.

Some students deserve special recognition for their perseverance and courage. They are: Michelle Reid, Rob Regliaro, Mat Zeck, Tim Balaz, Jason Dixon, Michelle Powell, Keith Horton, Catherine Thorne and Karen Milling.

These individuals portrayed difficult characters. Scenes they were in involved such topics as hitch-hiking (gay rape), date rape, fake rape and girlfriend beating.

From those subjects, I'm sure you can imagine the difficulties in presenting these skits.

Not only were all the scenes acted out by the senior students, but they were also written by them as well.

Mrs. Stamatiou was supportive of the work provided and gave up a lot of her own time to get it all together as best as possible.

Response to the program was quite good. Grade 9 students were overheard in the halls at lunch talking about the show and teachers commented on how well it was done.

Stamatiou commended all of us, and it's been suggested that the show be done for all of the school and possibly for one in Metro.

Nothing has been decided on this, though, as the students are reluctant to portray some of the characters again and because of other responsibilities. This did take up a lot of time.
