

Practical presents and executive toys for men

Men seem to be the hardest people to buy gifts for, but with the help of Kim Lennie and Markham store Presents of Mind, there are a few suggestions:

- Every few years the ever-popular Slinky makes a comeback, and this holiday season one has been introduced for executives. The Executive Slinky is packaged in its own wooden case and is gold colored, the perfect gift for an executive's desk.
- Colder temperatures are usually accompanied by winter storms. Presents of Mind has plenty of Motorist Winter Kits in stock, which include an ice scraper, thermometer, flashlight and Hot Key.

The Hot Key will melt ice that accumulates on a door lock and runs on AA batteries. The Breakdown Buddy is the perfect gift for any driver and is equipped with emergency tools to ensure your safety when getting out of the vehicle.

- The 3-In-One bar tool is a great stocking stuffer and includes a knife, corkscrew and bottle opener — great for any bar or for travelling.

• The Daily Shine has everything you need for the perfect shoe shine. Packaged to look like a newspaper, it includes everything from polish to brushes. Presents of Mind also stocks a kit for car-care enthusiasts and sports fans.

- You'll never be without an umbrella with the CarBrella. Just attach it to your door, center console or dash and snap a small umbrella into place. This is one car umbrella that will always be at your fingertips.

Gift ideas for men from Presents of Mind in Markham include three-in-one bar tools and portable umbrellas that can be attached to the interior of any car. Other Christmas ideas include the Breakdown Buddy (top photo) for those unexpected breakdowns, or the Daily Shine shoe care kit (above). It comes complete with everything from polish to brushes. But one of the trendiest resurrections on the market this Christmas season is a Slinky toy for executives. This state-of-the-art Slinky comes in its own wooden case and is gold colored — great for relieving stress between top-level meetings.
