NOTICE

The Equity Development Group Inc. President, Don Fleming, and Heron Homes President, Hugh Heron, invite all local residents to a community information meeting regarding the development of the site south of Apple Creek Boulevard at John Button Boulevard, south of the existing Saddlebrook community.

The meeting will take place on Wednesday March 29, 1989, at Ecole Sainte Marguerite Bourgeys on John Button Boulevard from 7:30 to 9:30.

Equity and Heron, both members of the Herity Group of Companies, have been committed to providing high quality communities and housing in the Unionville/Markham area for several years.

Please telephone 296-9400 to confirm your attendance at this meeting.

Cathy LaFee stands in front of the stained glass found in the store she and her husband Larry just opened. New England Collectables opened for business Saturday and, like its namesake, most of the antiques in the store come from the New England states.

Antiques galore at couple's new store

Stouffville's newest store, New England Collectables Antiques, opened its doors for business on Saturday at 58 Main Street West.

Hours of hard work over the last two weeks have transformed the interior into a perfect backdrop for the antique furniture, which includes some Chippendale and Sheraton pieces.

Owners Larry and Cathy Lafee have lived in Stouffville for three years.

"Larry has been doing this for about 15 years," explains Cathy. "He's had stores in the Beaches and on Queen Street over the years. But I'm new to it."

She loves good furniture and beautiful wood, and says she will enjoy sharing her husband's interest in the business. The store will feature mostly mahogany, walnut and cherrywood pieces, she adds.

When they decided to move out of Toronto, the Lafees were originally hoping to settle in Markham, "but we couldn't afford it, so we came here instead." They heard about their new location when the previous tenant, Apples owner Susan Myers, told them she was moving her hair salon to Park Drive South.

A central Main Street location was perfect for them so they jumped at the opportunity. They had tried selling out of their home, "but people wanted to buy our own furniture," smiles Cathy. Larry does most of his buying in the New England states, she said, and is currently looking for help in the store.

"Right now he's doing everything, including all the buying and refinishing." Since Cathy herself works full time, she can only help out at weekends.

More than just blood

Red Cross in York Region does much more than collect blood. And March is Red Cross month in the Region of York.

A few lesser known services are the Red Cross Homemaker Service which helps people of all ages stay in their homes and function independently. Hundreds of teenagers are trained in babysitting each year, videos on water safety are made available to groups.

Sickroom equipment is made available on loan, a network of volunteers are on call during emergencies. They're trained to meet disasters such as floods, hurricanes.

Seniors are provided with transportation and visits. And there are the Red Cross First Aid and CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) courses, its international tracing and reunion service.

But blood donor clinics are a vital service. In 38 clinics in York Region from May 1987 to May 1988 5,273 units were collected.

Last year the York Region branch in Newmarket opened a branch office at the Markham Neighborhood Support Centre, 5871 Hwy 7 West open three days a week.
