Mayor praises Rotary Club at recent meeting

By KATE GILDERDALE

Whitchurch-Stouffville Mayor Fran Sainsbury was the guest speaker when the Rotary Club met recently at The Blue Orchid Restaurant, Main Street West.

Mayor Sainsbury, on behalf of the Town, thanked Rotary for the excellent work members do "in improving the quality of community life and assisting others less fortunate than ourselves."

In turn, she said, members of Council do their best to serve the public's best interests also.

Mrs. Sainsbury covered all areas of Council participation including recreation.

She pointed to recent improvements that have been completed in local parks, the swimming pool, tennis courts and at Latcham Hall.

With respect to Stouffville's downtown, Mayor Sainsbury said the municipality had received a $280,000 PRIDE improvement grant.

The additional cost, she said, would amount to $33 per household over a four-year period. Lot levies were also used, she explained.

She hopes the project will be completed this summer.

Although the plan calls for Victorian design, Mrs. Sainsbury admitted all store-owners hadn't followed this guideline.

"We don't have architectural control under the building code," she said.

She praised owners of such establishments as The Blue Orchid and The Earl of Whitchurch for meeting the design criteria.

"Many have co-operated; some have not," she said.

Road work will continue to be a high priority, Mayor Sainsbury said. Regional roads, she noted, do not come under Council jurisdiction.

Mrs. Sainsbury touched on the Town's recently implemented recycling program.

"It's not without problems," she said, "but it's in place. We hope to improve the service."

Through recycling, the cost of garbage disposal should be reduced, she stated.

Mayor Sainsbury had praise for the Whitchurch-Stouffville volunteer fire department.

She described it as "one of the finest in Canada."

The Mayor referred to Whitchurch-Stouffville as "one of the have-not municipalities" within the Region of York. "But they (the Region) are finally beginning to look at our needs," she stated.

Mayor Sainsbury slapped the wrists of Queen's Park, saying, they expect a municipality like Whitchurch-Stouffville, with limited resources, to "do too much, too fast."

Because the Town lacks full-time lawyers and engineers, unlike it's larger counterparts, a lot of work must be sent out and this results in delays, making it difficult to meet deadlines, Mayor Sainsbury added.

And the affordable housing issue can't be solved until the question of sewage capacity is addressed, the mayor noted.

Stoplights on Main Street, particularly in the area of Summitview School, are a top priority, she said.

The municipal office is overcrowded, but will be alleviated with the acquisition of a real estate office from Westfield Estates, Mrs. Sainsbury added. The office has been relocated in the Town Park.

"The Planning Department will be accommodated there," she explained.

Council meetings, she said, are always open to the public although the seating capacity is limited.

Mayor Sainsbury pointed with pride to the three Conservation Areas in Town, plus seven kettle lakes, 700 acres of regional forest and 100 acres of park land.

She estimated the number of bona fide farms at 50, plus many hobby farms.
