Dramatic rescue

Students at Summitview Public School witnessed a real-life tragedy, staged by York Region police and school officials last week when student Katie Hiscott collapsed during a film in the gymnasium. It was all part of the school board's VIP Program (Values, Influences, Peers) that battles drug abuse and other social issues facing children today. In the top photo, Katie is attended by real ambulance attendants who are trying to revive her, while below she is carried out on a stretcher as a police officer clears the way. The VIP approach illustrates real life situations that can occur.
