'Bud-iful' romance flowers in Stouffville

The eating was good at the Whitchurch-Stouffville Horticultural Society's flower show held Wednesday and Thursday at Stouffville United Church. Along with an array of colorful and aromatic floral arrangements were hungry visitors (from left) Laurie Painter, 3, Glenn Painter, 8, Andy West, 7, and Kristina West, 4.

This country basket provides a fitting foreground as Dennis West examines tomatoes in a display designed by his wife. The arrangement, entitled "Farmer's Market Vegetables in Fireside Basket," was awarded first place.

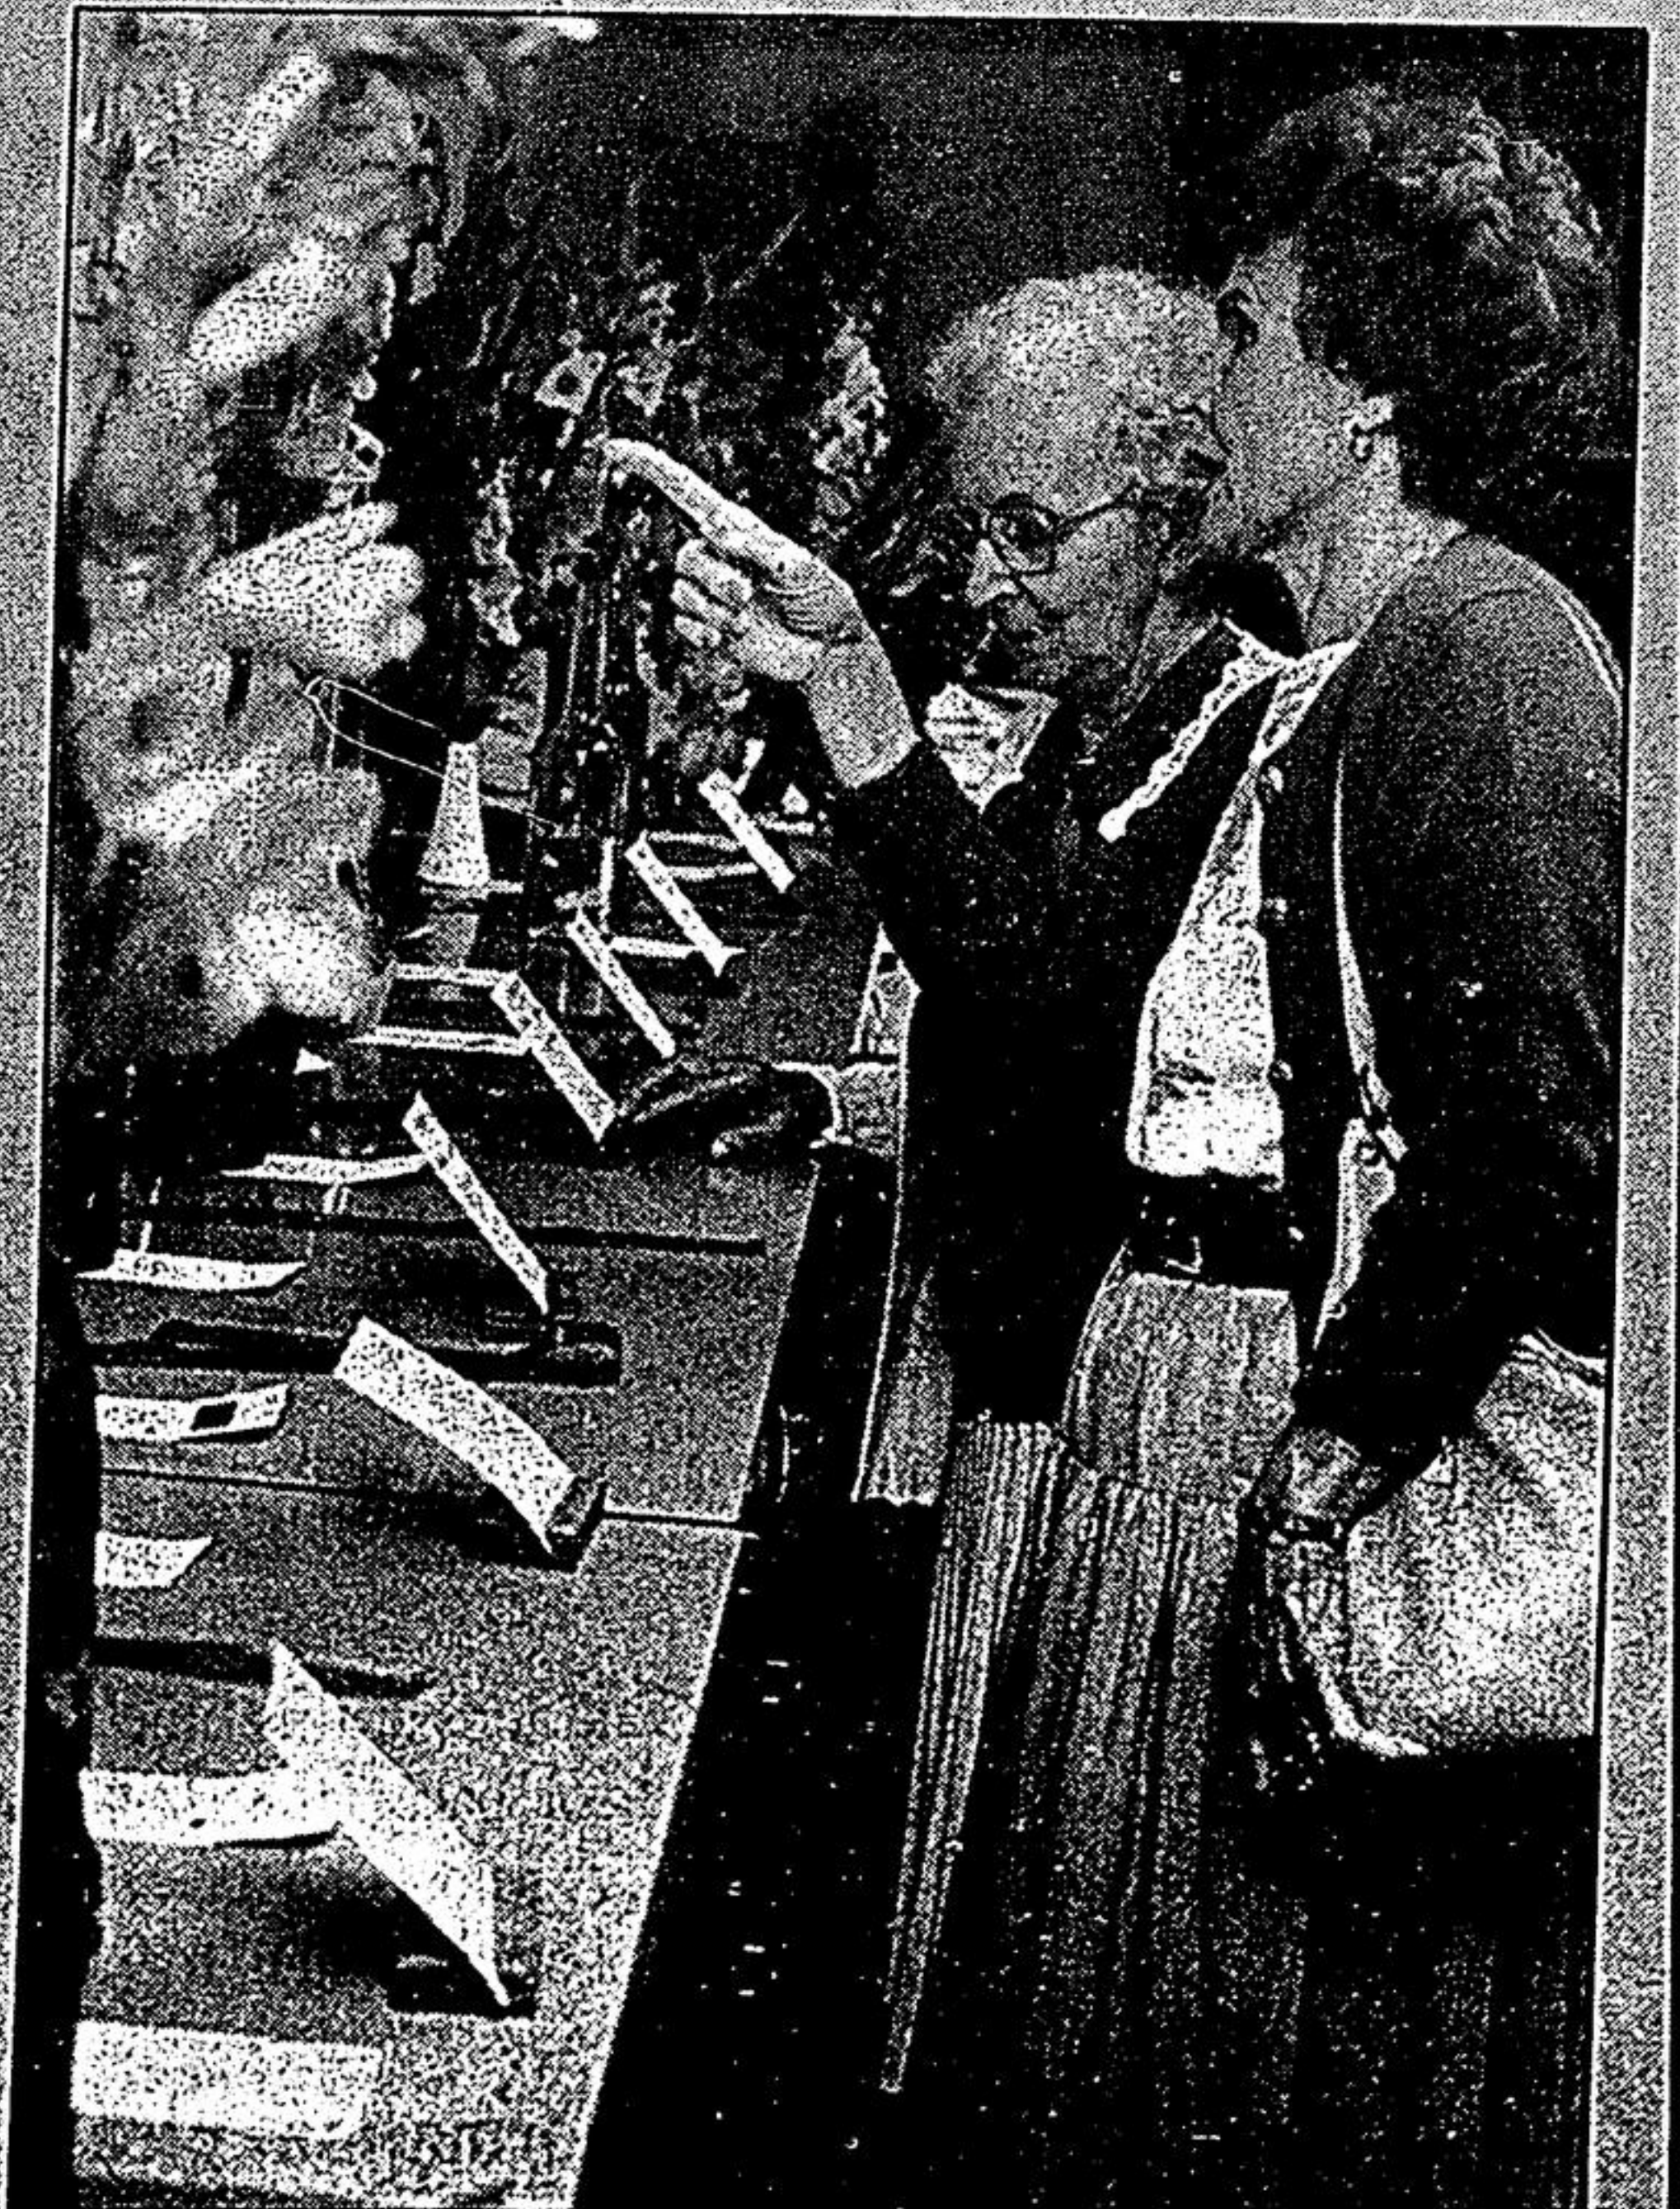

Adam West put his creative skills into gear and came up with a creation of his own. He proudly shows off his entry, made from various fruit and vegetable parts.

This arrangement combines the beauty of plant life with the artistry of twisting tree limbs.

Audrey Avery (left) and Yvonne Raben enjoy a line of colorful displays. Several appreciative visitors turned out to see the show, which highlighted the talents of many local residents.
