Walking program is steps away

Home Support Services of Whitchurch-Stouffville is coordinating a variety of walking programs for residents who have spare time during the week.

A meeting to introduce the program was held last Monday at the Silver Jubilee Club and Mayor Fran Sainsbury welcomed speakers and guests.

Speakers included Bob Ancheril, of Ancheril's Fine Shoes, who offered pointers on appropriate footwear.

Todd Snooks, a Grade 12 student at Stouffville District Secondary School, outlined some warm-up exercises and Whitchurch-Stouffville Public Library Chief Librarian Marilyn Ferguson offered suggestions on books to read on the subject.

Two veteran walkers, Ken Cox and Molly Sinclair, addressed the meeting on both the social and physical benefits of walking.

Starting this week, the program is offered at four locations: Stouffville Place Mall at 8 a.m. from Tuesday to Friday; Whitchurch-Stouffville Public Library at 2 p.m. on Tuesdays; Musselman's Lake, with Molly Sinclair, which will appeal to more advanced walking enthusiasts; and Parkview Village at 10 a.m. on Fridays.

Full details of the program are outlined in the brochure entitled 'Walking,' which is available from Home Support Services at 50 Main St. West. For more information, call Ginny Burrows at 640-6554.

Diversity is key theme at conference

A two-day conference focusing on social services in York's multi-ethnic communities is being held next month in Aurora by Catholic Community Services of York Region (CCSYR).

The conference, called Dynamics of Diversity, will include several workshops on various aspects of racial diversity as well as keynote speakers.

Some of the issues to be discussed include ethnicity and aging, culturally responsive health care, the role of ethnicity in family therapy and planning for diversity.

The conference takes place Nov. 9 and 10.

For further information, contact Wanda Romaniec at 727-8600, 773-0344, or 1-800-263-2075, or contact Surinder Singh Gill of the Race Relations Directorate at 965-1613.

Art sale to aid Juvenile Diabetes

An Uxbridge art gallery is offering a limited edition print for sale to help aid the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

Select Art Galleries on Brock Street in Uxbridge is offering the print, entitled Side by Side, until Oct. 31. For each print that is sold, $50 will be donated to fight Juvenile Diabetes.

The work, by artist James Lumber, is a "memory painting" depicting a young boy fishing with a haunting, ghost-like image of his grandfather standing patiently behind him.

Select Art Galleries is located at 13 Brock St. West in Uxbridge. For information, call 852-5010.
