

Stouffville Close-Up

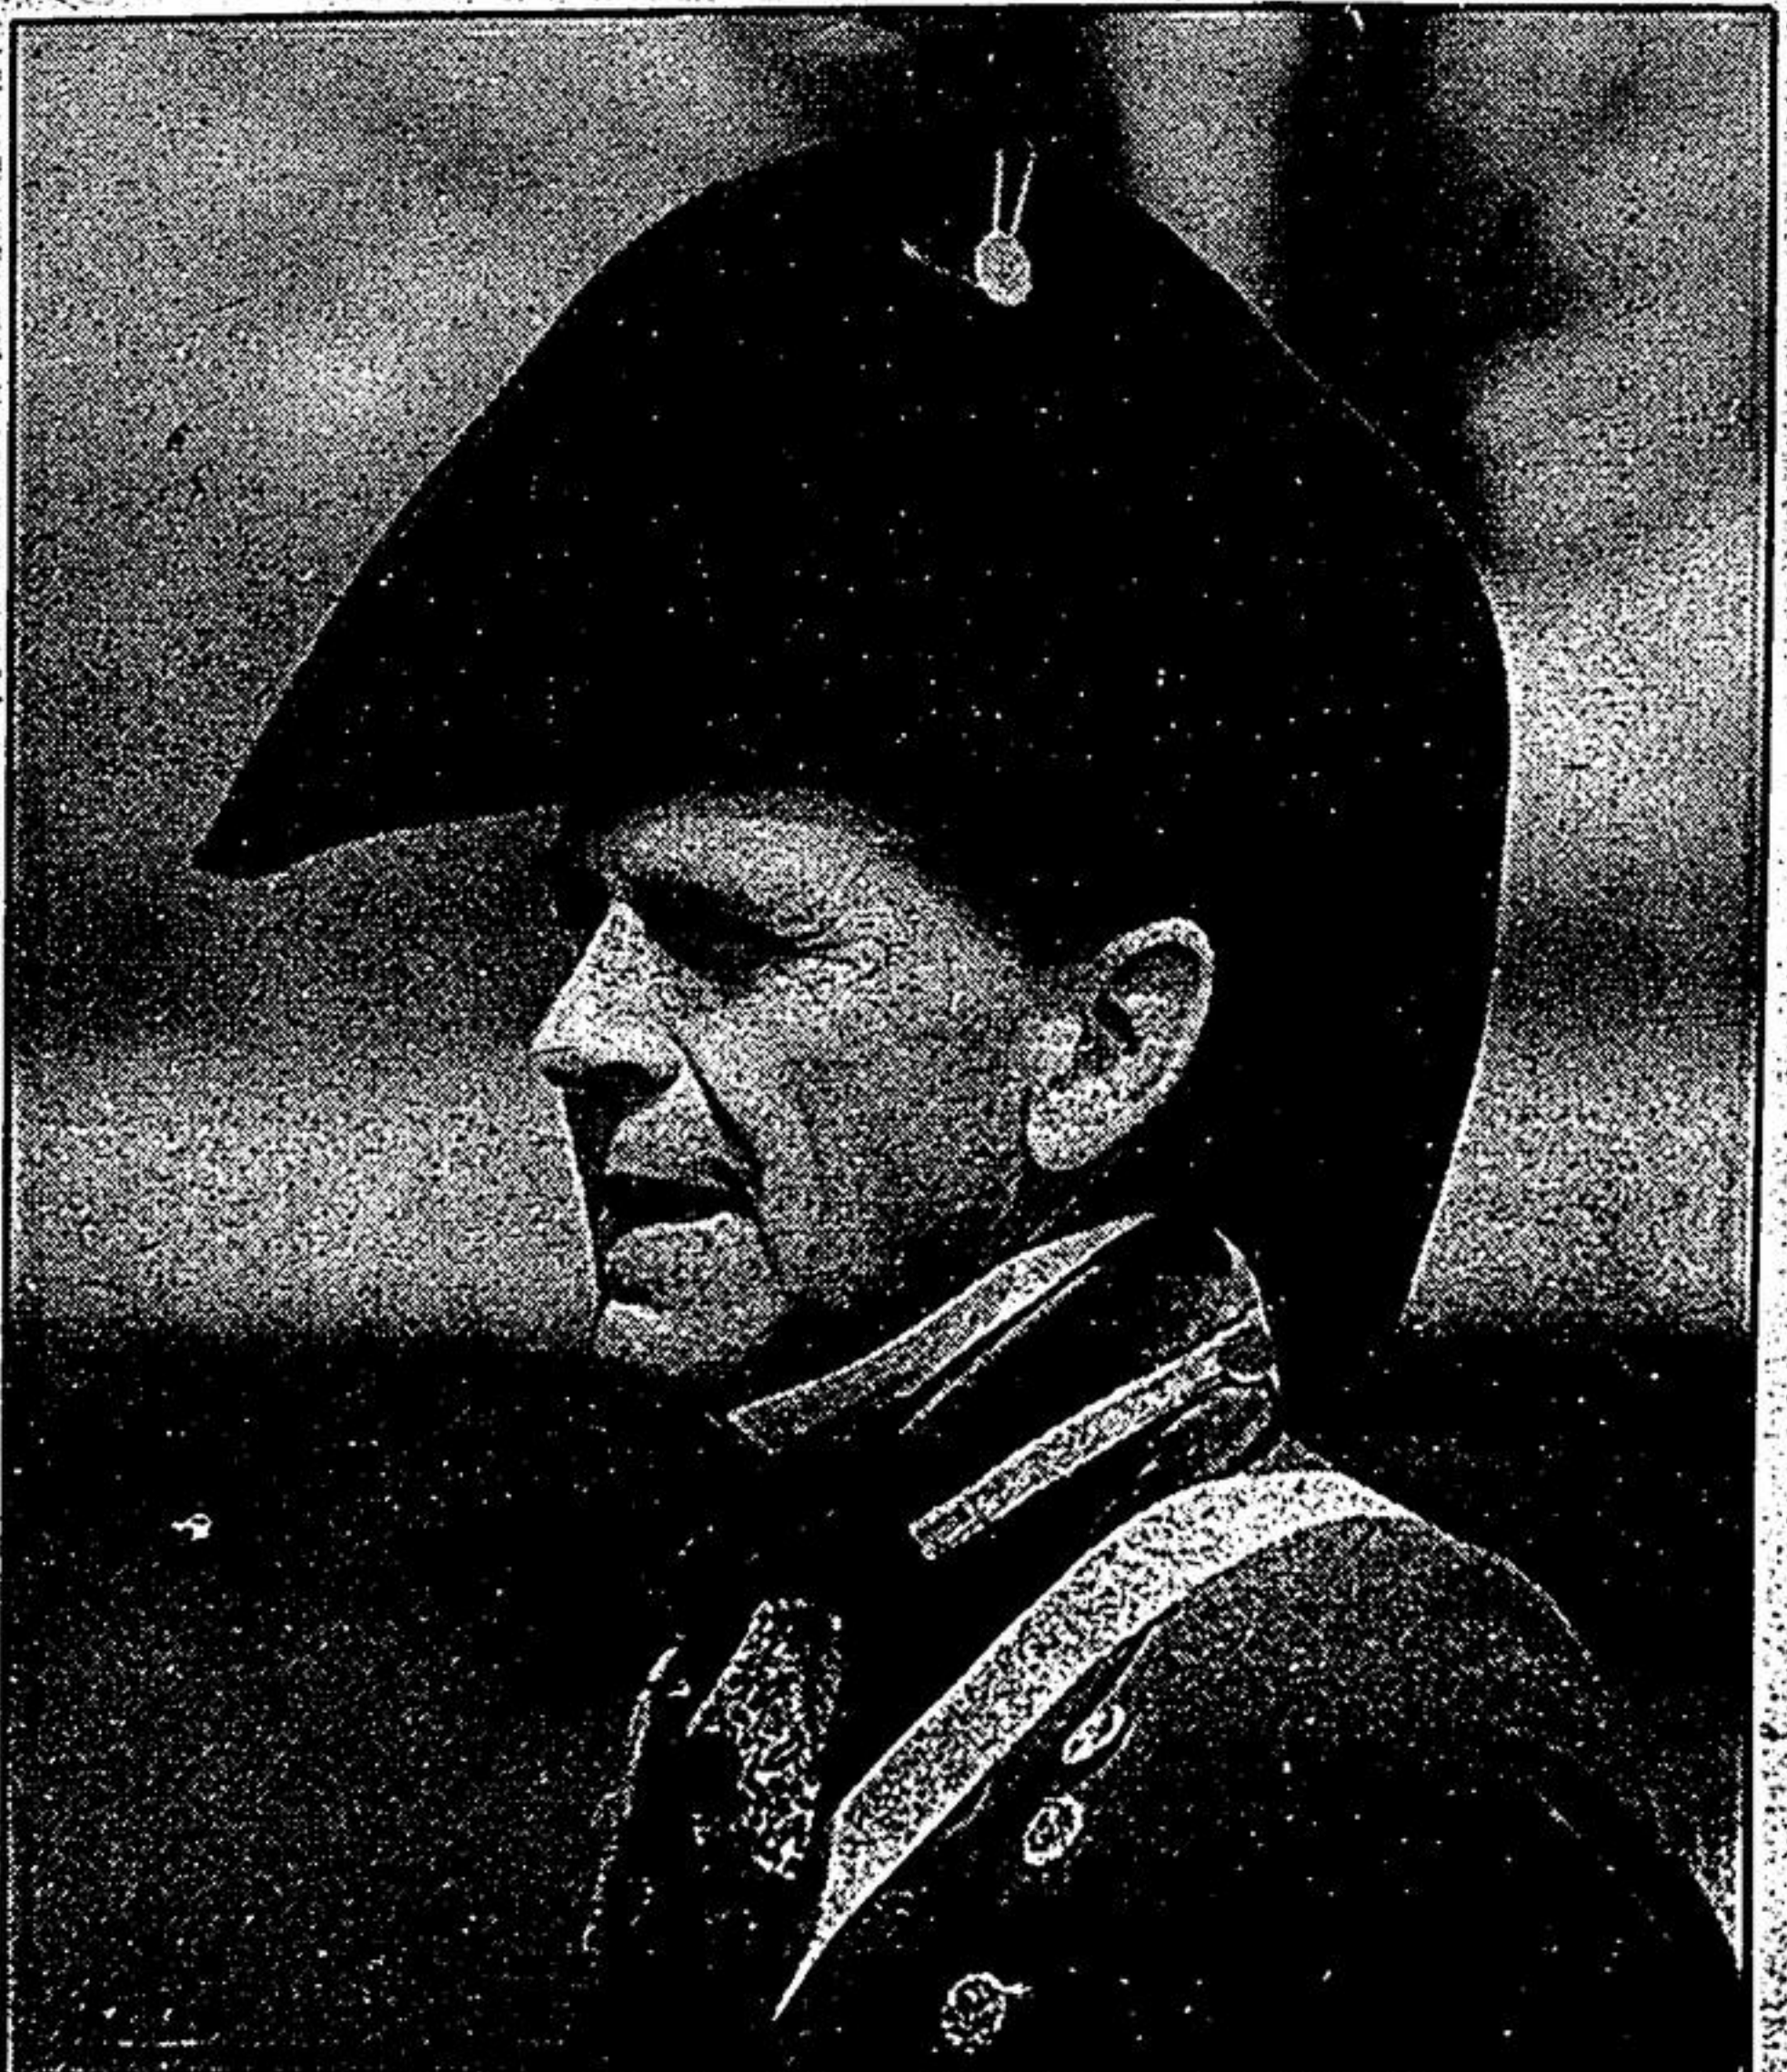

Home Show '90 brings out best in Stouffville

Stouffville residents were shown what local business has to offer at the town's first home show last weekend. A wide array of businesses had their wares displayed, and local residents responded enthusiastically. Above, the Jewel, a 21-foot couch, is tested by a visitor to the show. Above right, two youngsters model fashions from Lullabies and Laughter. At right, Mary and Norm Hill of Stouffville chat with Bernadette Marshman of Stonehouse Travel, at the local agency's booth.

photos by rick madonik

History brought back to life in Ballantrae field

The Volunteer Battalion of Incorporated Militia of Upper Canada staged a demonstration in Ballantrae on Saturday for its upcoming participation in a re-enactment in Waterloo this summer. The battalion (above) marched to the firing line during the demonstration, under the guidance of Lt. John Gauthier (right). The event brought history to life at the Centennial Centre.