Library turns into jungle

While the children are still on the Christmas break, an activity at the library is guaranteed to keep the young ones amused and occupied.

On Jan. 3 at 2 p.m. at the Whitchurch-Stouffville Library, Jungles Alive will be presented by Jim Lovisek of the Toronto Nature Centre. He will take the audience on a journey into the steaming jungles of the world with his collection of live jungle creatures including a giant hissing cockroach, parrot, tarantula and Burmese python, which the children are invited to touch and inspect. Admission is $2.

Call 640-2395 for further information.
