

Lost lizard roaming streets of Stouffville

DUDE HITS THE TRAIL

Karen Farrell and her family are hoping someone will spot their pet iguana Dude, who escaped through a tear in the screen door at the back of their Linden Lane home last week.

The light green, three foot long lizard is a herbivore and completely harmless, but will not survive long outside during cool nights.

Karen bought her unusual pet about five years ago. "I wanted a python but I was going to have a baby and I couldn't have them both," she explained.

For the first couple of years, Dude was kept in a 75 gallon tank, but more recently he had the run of the house.

At night he usually slept on top of the fridge for warmth and during the day he sat in the window.

Karen thinks he probably escaped into the fields behind the house.

If you come across Dude on his travels, please call her at 640-3710.

BREAST CANCER SCREENING

There are now three centres in the Metro Toronto area which offer high quality breast cancer screening and clinical breast examination for women over 50.

Women are also taught self-examination techniques at the centres, which use the highest quality, state-of-the-art equipment. Women can refer themselves and receive the results of their screening directly.

Stouffville residents should contact the Scarborough Women's Screening Centre at 298-2626 for information.

designed to evoke the atmosphere of a Third World market.

The products, which are crafted by disabled artisans in developing countries, are sold directly by CBMI, rather than through an agent.

"CBMI wants to eliminate the need for 'middlemen' and funnel as much of the profit back to the disabled artisan as possible," explained Art Brooker, national director of CBMI Canada.

The store is scheduled to open this month. For more information call 640-6464.

BAND SELECTS LOCAL STUDENTS

Chris Jull and Lesley Campbell of Stouffville were among the students selected to play in the York Regional Enrichment Band at two recent concerts.

The Grade 8 students auditioned in March and attended music camp for three days at the beginning of June.

"We spent 21 hours practising," Chris noted.
