

New rec programmer hopes to be able to stay

It's a long way from Lively, Ontario, to Stouffville.

But if Nancy Corletto has her way, a four-month summer stint as Whitchurch-Stouffville's Assistant Recreation Programmer might just be the beginning of a permanent departure from her Sudbury area home town.

Corletto, 24, recently completed a bachelor of arts degree in Honours Recreation and Leisure Studies Co-op at the University of Waterloo.

She is no stranger to Stouffville. She did a summer co-op placement with the town's rec department in 1990, in which she was responsible for putting together a survey to assess the department's summer programs, while organizing focus groups to gauge the satisfaction level of the children involved with the programs.

This time around, she's on contract serving as the assistant to veteran Recreation Programmer Peter Arnott.

Arnott has given his new helper such assignments as organizing the recent Canada Day triathlon, co-ordinating the department's summer day camp program, and helping out with every day office responsibilities.

For those who attended the official opening of the Stouffville Reservoir Trails May 27, it was Corletto who did the leg work to have representatives from the University of Guelph come and release a muskrat and a hawk to the wild after the animals had recovered from injuries that left them under the university's care.

Corletto is finding that being on staff brings with it a much greater work load than helping out as a co-op student. She has found the experience to be invaluable.

"I'm finding I have more responsibilities this time," she said in a recent interview. "I'm finding one project jumps right into the next one. But I'm getting a good idea of municipal recreation programming and administration. And I'm enjoying the day to day process of dealing with citizens coming into the office."

The schedule can be demanding as well. Corletto was among the department staff members who reported to work at six a.m. on Canada Day to help prepare for the triathlon. She got right to work putting up signs and getting the course ready.

After co-ordinating the start of the race up at Shadow Lake, it was off to serve as traffic marshal along the bike route. When it was all over, she was up on the stage at the town park helping with the awards presentation before going back out to clean up along the triathlon route.

"At least I got the afternoon off," she laughed.

When she's not busy in the rec office, Corletto can be found biking, playing softball, or whacking furniture together in a carpentry course.

"I have a wide range of interests," she said. "They go from the physical to the creative."

Corletto, who has taken up residence in Stouffville for the duration of her stay, said she isn't sure what lies ahead after she has completed her four months with the rec department. She admitted, however, she would be more than happy to stay on if asked.

"I'm waiting to see what's going to happen in the future. But one way or the other, this is good experience for me."
