

Box Grove bridge gets an overhaul

A construction crew hammers new life into an old railway bridge
