Tips on changing your oil

- Engine oil should be changed every three months or 5,000 kilometres. Check your owner's manual for recommended grades.
- Oil filters should be changed with every oil change. Otherwise it can be compared to bathing in dirty bath water.
- SG is currently the highest quality motor oil on the market. As of July 1, 1993, SH will become the new standard.
- The SAE Grade (5W30 or 10W30) rates the viscosity of the oil. Remember the lower the number, the easier the oil will flow.
- The first number (the 5 in 5W30) indicates the oil's viscosity in any cold weather. The W stands for winter.
- The last two numbers (the 30 in 5W30) indicate the oil's viscosity at warmer engine temperatures. An SAE-30 grade oil flows easier than an SAE-40 oil at the same engine operating temperature.
- Lighter oils such as 5W30 and 10W30 improve fuel economy and extend engine life because they reach critical engine parts more quickly than 10W40 oils.
- One quart of used motor oil, if disposed of improperly, can spoil the taste of one million litres of drinking water.
