

Church St. neighbors respond to builder's letter

Even in Markham, in subdivisions where houses are very close together, backyards are conforming. Last fall our soon-to-be neighbor came to our house, sat with several neighbors and ourselves in a neighborly fashion, had a beer and discussed what was to be, at which time he insisted to both neighbors that he would do everything to try and ensure our privacy. The complete opposite has been done. Trees that we were told would be left alone were brought down within two weeks of our conversation and the neighbor's yard was then completely exposed. We then, realizing we might have a problem, went to town council for help. It is there that we were told that we had virtually no rights or protection under the terms of the town's present bylaws. All loss of privacy and all damages incurred were basically our problem. Well, we have endured our telephone line being broken, two to three feet of property being dug out "by mistake", the foundation on one side of the pool sinking and cracking, workers twice plugging into our electricity without asking, watching the same workers urinate on the neighbor's house and a toilet at the front door for the entire summer - including the recent heat wave.

This does not include possible future damage as a result of overhang from the roof being so close to our properties or basement flooding due to poor or improper grading. Yes, the neighbors opposite this house who have lived in Stouffville for 20 years and ourselves, who have lived here a year are distraught over what has been allowed to be built on this small lot. Built with absolutely no consideration for us as neighbors - and I mean neighbors as this house looms only four feet from our property lines. But this can happen to anyone in Stouffville and not just in empty lots, but on lots with small houses which can be pulled down to make room for much larger homes.

Please Stouffville - help us find a way to amend or change the existing bylaw which was established in 1987 and which now clearly needs more scrutiny. Don't let this happen to you.
