Library can help out with home improvement tips

Ah! Summertime. No snow to shovel. No sub-zero weather to battle. No excuse for not getting that little household improvement chore finished. Of course, your library is here to help you. In the Reference Area we have a copy of the Ontario Building Code and the Electrical Code to help you make safe improvements. There are also basic guides to fixing small appliances and "How-to" books on building anything from bird houses to bookshelves to additions. There are even a series of house design books for those people who really want a challenge.

Of course, if you aren't quite ready for the actual "How-to" manual, we have many titles which are nice to browse through for ideas. Jocasta Innes, Martha Stewart and Laura Ashley are wonderful books to find ideas.

Take a moment to browse through the magazines for ideas. Architectural Digest, House Beautiful and Canadian Workshop are well suited for suggestions. Suggested titles you may wish to examine are:

- Fireplaces for a beautiful home. Katherine Seppings
- Walls, Walks, and Steps for your Garden. Gordon Kurtis
- Pergolas, Arbours, Gazebos,

Follies. David Stevens

• Design and Detail. Tricia Guild

• Renovating Brick Houses. Phillip J. Decker and T. Newell Decker

• Popular Mechanics, Home Appliance Repair Manual

• The Complete Home Renovation Manual. Bradford and Lawrence

All these are great books and magazines to curl up with on the porch. Before you know it, it will be winter again and that household improvement project will have to be put off until next year.

Of course, the library will likely have new books to consider by then.
