Stouffville is indeed a Music Town

Dear Editor,
 With regard to your recent article Music Town, Ont?
 If I had a business and wished to locate in a small community, my main concerns would be with the business tax base, town by-laws, sewage capacity, available market, transportation facilities and many others. My last interest, if I even thought about it, would be the community's "theme" name.

 Surely, to attract new business the EDAC cannot think that Horse Town, Hockey Town, Strawberry Town or any other such name would be any more repulsive or attractive than Music Town.
 Also, Music Mania may have 175 plus in the show at this moment, but, 1,500 plus, in this community, are retired Music Maniacs or spouses and children of Music Maniacs and as such are very involved and committed to the show. To say this isn't a "Music Town" is not accurate.

 In addition, my understanding is that each specialty group will have their own sign made, in accordance with the town's specifications to advertise their event during the year (ie. Strawberry Festival in June, Music Mania in April, Home Show in March, etc.).

 In conclusion, since the provincial government and our town council have already designated Stouffville as Music Town, Ont, I don't understand what change can be considered now.
