

Stouffville Post Office must continue to offer full service

Dear Editor,
The Dunville Post Office was not the only one slated for closure in 1991 which is still open for full service today.

In 1991, Canada Post decided to close the Lennoxville and Cobalt

Post Offices. Both Post Offices fought hard against this closure (Lennoxville aided by Jean Charest), and both are still offering full service.

We are glad to have the extension on keeping the Stouffville Post Office offering full service, but an extension is not enough.

Since so many people would suffer as a result of the closing down of services to individuals; the more than 1,500 people who signed the petition feel that the Stouffville Post Office must continue to offer full service.
