SPORT
NOTES

The Stouffville District Secondary School Teacher Terrors hockey team will be engaging in some extra curricular activity this Saturday.

The squad, which traditionally assembles to do battle with a team consisting of the best SDSS student pucksters each April, is taking to the ice for the Uxbridge Oilies Old Timers Tournament this Saturday at the Manvers Arena (Hwys. 7 and 35, 25 kilometres east of Port Perry).

SDSS boys physical education head Dave Connell, a member of the host Oilies, has arranged to have his Terrors face off at 9 a.m. against a Toronto outfit known as Lauder's Lads, with Bob Lauder, another Oilie, heading up that bunch.

The Terrors lineup includes SDSS staffers Ron Dempster, Jim "Gordie Howe" Fletcher, Alan Dickson and Doug McCammon.

Parents Howard Burkholder and Stu Evans will also be part of the team.

The favored Uxbridge Islanders open up the tournament with a game versus the Whitby French Connection at 8 a.m.

The SDSS midget boys' volleyball team proved king of the hill at a mini exhibition tournament held at the school last Tuesday.

The Spartans won all seven games played against teams from Sutton H.S., Newmarket H.S., and Durham Region's Brock H.S.

The Stouffville outfit then travelled to Barrie for a tournament Saturday, splitting their eight round robin games before prevailing 15-8, 15-11 in the first playoff round against Penetang H.S.

The bubble burst, however, when the Spartans were blitzed 15-6, 15-5 by a strong Collingwood unit.

SDSS co-coach Denis Fortier said Colin Thompson earned laurels for his strong serving and hitting.

Chris Karras, Rob Spytz, and Kris VanKoughnet also stood out.
