

A good effort put forth by Spartan cagers

(From page 14)

In their win over Exeter, the midgets showed their depth, amassing a 26-7 half time lead. Jen Reesor led the way with 12 points. Jen Easter had nine points, and Danielle Timms eight. Alison Crowder, Lillian Boyd, and Shannon Timms picked up four points each.

Danielle Timms had nine points against Brock. Shannon Timms was good for six points, with Reesor and Crowder adding four apiece.

The senior Spartans put up a strong fight against their tough Brock opponent, but were handled 74-42 Friday. Andrea Crothers accumulated 22 points for the determined Spartans, who got eight points from Erin Blenkhorn and four from Christie Henderson.

"The girls played an excellent game. I was proud of them," said Spartans co-coach Tami Waters. "But excellent wasn't good enough against a dynasty like Brock."

The junior Spartans also lost to Brock, falling 43-33 Saturday afternoon. The SDSS girls found it difficult to break out against the close checking Brock unit. "They didn't give us anything," lamented Spartans co-coach Sheila Coleman. "They were just too strong."

Michelle Gilroy and Nicole Bardell had eight points each for the Spartans. Melissa Gilroy went to the hoop for six points, with Amy Sled adding three more.
